Those who were not spectators in those days of apprehension and dread never have been able to form a true idea of that frightful episode. As a field of fiction, therefore, the stormy scenes of that time present an untrodden path to the author and reader, and, in order to publish an entirely new romance, the

BY SCOTT R. SHERWOOD, ESQ.,
Author of "Zinka, the Sorceress," "The Incognita," &c.

In the scenes of this great local romance, almost cotemporaneous with the events of to-day, the passions of men are portrayed with a fidelity to nature that is only to be found elsewhere in the works of the old dramatists. The novel is, in itself, a

Entering upon his task with the outbreak of rebellion, at which time, in his prologue and early succeeding chapters, the author brings his actors prominently forward, and arouses the curiosity of the reader in the events of which they are the controling figures, he subsequently falls boldly into the untried field in which the is developed, and enchains the interest until his most effective catastrophe, producing a work of the rarest conception, boldest plot and greatest dramatic force, vigor and power ever printed in this hemisphere.

As the popular author of the most successful serial tales that have appeared within the past year from our Metropolitan Press, and as one who has made the motives, dispositions and passions of men of all orders and conditions his life-study, Mr. Sherwood has not with too great assurance undertaken the task of exploring a hazardous field for the composer, and of giving poetical and romantic significance to historical events.

Whether under a Spring sky in the Central Park or in the reeking gutters of the wretched by-way, in the purlieus of poverty or in mansions of wealth, amid the author never for an instant omits to sustain the interest of the reader, and does not repeat a word that does not directly bear on the climax of his tale.

As a portrayal of events at home and scenes familiar to all New-Yorkers,

BEHIND THE BARRICADES;

THE MUTTERINGS OF CONSPIRACY,

possesses far greater value than the works of English authors, who write for the English and not for the American public.

The Berlin agency of the Associated Press reports that the Emperor Napoleon is arming his forces and strengthening his military posts on the frontier. Large numbers of horses are being purchased, and the artillery will be immediately placed on a war footing. The reserves of next year will be called out on the 1st of May. Prussia on the other hand is not so active in her military preparations.

AFFAIRS IN CANADA.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Toronto, Wednesday, April 17, 1867.

POLITICAL EXCITEMENT.

It is now stated, on what may be considered good authority, and that is one of the Confederation Delegates who went to England, that the elections, as was intimated in a former letter, will not take place in the Dominion of Canada until August; consequently there is plenty of time for the candidates to cool down. This section is fairly alive with political excitement, and the constituencies overrun with those who are courting the suffrages of "the free and independent electors," as it is customary to style every man who has a vote to give. The most striking feature in the contest, however, is the absence of experienced politicians, the greater number of candidates being new men. Hon. M. H. Foley, who deserted his party in 1864 and went into a Conservative Administration as Postmaster-General, but was beaten when he went back to his constituents for reëlection, has received a nomination for the House of Commons in North Wellington, and another for the Legislative Assembly in North Norfolk, from the party by whom he was ostracised on account of his want of party adherence. He is the only man of mark who has, thus far, obtained a nomination at all. With regard to the first Confederate or Federal Administration, it appears to be conceded that Hon. John A. Macdonald will be its Premier, and there will probably be twelve Ministers in all, two of whom will simply have seats in the Cabinet, but no portfolios. A strong desire is manifested that the Government of the new dominion shall be carried on as economically as possible; but it is to be feared that the Inter-colonial and Grand Trunk Railways will prove extremely burdensome, as the former can never pay and the latter is in such a bad condition as to require repairs the Company are unable to make; therefore the line will natually fall into the hands of the Government, and thus prove a burden upon the country.

THE HASTINGS GOLD REGIONS.

We have conflicting accounts just now from Madoc and other sections of the gold regions. Some assert that further discoveries have been made, and others that the whole thing will speedily collapse. It is quite certain that gold has been obtained. Of that there can be no possible doubt, unless we question the veracity of the Government geologists; but the question is, will it pay to mine? From Tudor a report comes that gold in quartz has been found in lot ten, seventeenth concession; and that it has also been found in another part of Elziver, lot one, third concession, within eighteen inches of the surface. The various villages are being crowded with strangers. Eight stages run from Belleville daily, and are crowded all the time. Upwards of one hundred strangers arrived in the village of Madoc one day last week. The stages not being sufficient to accommodate all who are bound to the mines, many trudge upon foot. Disgrace has fallen upon the mounted police organized for the District, which is henceforth to be known as the "Quinte Gold Mining Division." Two of the men were arrested on suspicion of committing a robbery in Belleville, and have confessed their guilt. We shall have hard stories enough from the District in the course of the coming Summer.

RUMOR ABOUT MR. BRYDGES.

A rumor comes from England, but it is apparently premature, that Mr. Brydges, manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, has accepted the position of manager of a railroad in England. If the report should prove true, it will be enough to convince the Canadian public that Mr. Brydges has failed in the attempt to bring order out of chaos in connection with the Grand Trunk. It was conceded on all hands that he was the fittest man to make the Grand Trunk all right; he has certainly done wonders; but it lays still, and is likely soon to prove a dead weight upon both the Company and the stockholders. Without Mr. Brydges the concern must unquestionably go to ruin, or hasten its assumption by the Government. It is pretty well understood that eminent contractors in England are to have the construction of the Inter-colonial Railroad, and that Mr. Shanley, former manager of the Grand Trunk, is to be Chief-Engineer. Mr. Brydges is said to have been recalled to England for the purpose of consultation with regard to the Inter-colonial and Grand Trunk: but if he leaves both in the lurch, it is hard to say what will become of the latter. It is not likely that Mr. Shanley will be asked to assume the management again.

FATHER CHINIQUY IN TROUBLE.

There was a Roman Catholic priest in Lower Canada some fifteen years ago, who became a convert to the Protestant faith, and took it into his head that he would like to found a French Canadian colony somewhere in the Province; and with that object in view, he prevailed upon the Government to make him a present of $2,000 for settlement purposes. It was considered a praiseworthy enterprise; but the wily priest did not stay in the Province, for he went to Illinois and established his people there, the capital of the colony, if colony it is, being Kankakee. He has recently been arrested, and is now in prison at Kankakee on some criminal charge. A letter from him to some one in Montreal asserts his innocence. He has always been in trouble since his conversion, and, as might be expected, throws all the blame upon Roman Catholics.

THE CROP PROSPECTS.

The prospects for a good crop in this section of the dominion never looked so promising as they do this Spring. None of the wheat has been Winter killed, and everywhere it looks green and thriving. The fine weather of the past few days has done the wheat much good, and with a continuance it cannot fail to be a splendid crop. Business is improving in consequence of the flattering accounts of the crops, and the prospect of no further interference on the part of the Fenians.

OPENING OF NAVIGATION SEASON.

The season of navigation has commenced, and it is thought that we shall have a large and profitable business in connection with shipping, as there is a great deal of produce to be moved. Immense quantities of timber and staves are awaiting shipping, and the warehouses and elevators are mostly full. The vessels which wintered in American ports, and were intended to be sailed this season as American bottoms, will find plenty of business in spite of the fears of their owners last Fall. Several new vessels are on the stocks at this and other ports along the lake just ready to be launched.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

Madame Ristori will not appear in this city as was expected. Her agent required $2,000 for a visit, and, as we have no hall large enough to warrant the venture, the idea has been abandoned. She will go to Montreal, however.

This city has long been fortunate in having a fair representation in Parliament, and has usually had about a dozen of its prominent men there representing country constituencies. Under the new arrangement, there will not be so many. Hon. G. Brown retires; but Hon. J. H. Cameron, Hon. W. McDougall, Hon. W. Howland, M. C. Cameron and one or two others, will be candidates this time. There is no mention yet of who are to be the candidates for the two divisions of the city.

Hon. T. D. McGee is to be opposed in Montreal by B. Devlin, who defended the Fenians at Sweetsburg, and Hon. G. E. Cartier is to be opposed in the same city. It is not likely, however, that either can be beaten.

The Welland canal will be opened at the time announced, as it is found that the land slip which took place sometime since will in no way interfere with the passage of vessels, the greater part having been removed.

A line of steamers between Hamilton, Toronto and the lower Provinces, is being organized, and will be ready in a short time. At first the company will probably only run steamers in connection with a line between Montreal and Halifax. We are in expectation of a cargo of coals from Nova Scotia, which will be a novelty here.

AFFAIRS IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Charleston, S. C., Thursday, April 11, 1867.

Things in the Second Military District seem to glide along smoothly enough under the new Congressional régime. People here are very grateful to Gen. Sickles for the moderate and discreet manner in which he is using the powers intrusted to him; and his public utterances, official and otherwise, have, so far, elicited general commendation. Govs. Worth and Orr, the provisional chief magistrates of the Carolinas, after a protracted consultation with the General, have actively and earnestly set about the work of coöperating with him in the reorganization of their respective States. The order prohibiting all elections for the present, in order to give time for a careful and thorough registration, was an eminently wise measure, removing what might have been the occasion of a deal of trouble, had the polls been opened while the status of the enfranchised and disfranchised classes remains imperfectly defined. By this timely and prudent step the schemes of the few agitators who have found their way into this State, and who seek to array the races against each other, are effectually thwarted. The machinery to effect a speedy and impartial registration is now in course of preparation; and, owing to the good understanding that exists between the District Commander and the provisional civil authorities, it is probable that North and South Carolina will be among the first, if not the very first, of the Southern States to reorganize under the provisions of Sherman's bill. With regard to the effort now being made to array the Supreme Court against the constitutionality of the act, nobody here seems to entertain the slightest hope of any practical relief growing out of the action of that tribunal. Indeed, the whole movement is generally deplored as a hopeless and impotent measure, destined only to prolong a hurtful condition of agitation and unrest throughout the South, and to exasperate the temper of Congress and the whole North. I have heard many citizens here congratulate each other that this State is in nowise implicated in the application for an injunction. Having accepted the late action of Congress, with all its, to them, odious features, as a final settlement of their troubles, they are anxious, without further quibbling, to go to work to reconstruct simultaneously the political organization of the State and their own shattered fortunes. To do this they have made up their minds that they must stand shoulder to shoulder with the freedmen, and recognize, cheerfully and at once, the newly acquired importance of the black man as a member of the body politic. The first substantial evidence that South Carolina will give of her good faith in acquiescing in the new order of things will be the fact of

NEGRO REPRESENTATION IN THE CONVENTION.

I have reason to believe that in the coming State Convention fully one-third of the delegates chosen to represent this portion of the State will consist of colored-men of intelligence and respectability, whose homes are in South Carolina, and whose interests are identified with those of the State. They will be elected by the united support of the whites and those of the freedmen who are not subject to the control of Northern Radical emissaries. Few at the North can fully appreciate the extent of the prejudices which have been overcome to enable such a concession to be voluntarily made by the whites; but I am informed that the expediency of having the negro voters adequately represented in the Convention by delegates of their own color, was first boldly asserted by Wade Hampton, and is now the declared policy of nine-tenths of those whose counsels will be likely to shape the future course of the State.

THE STREET CAR DISTURBANCES.

No decision has yet been rendered by the Provost Court in the case of the negroes arrested during the late disturbances, consequent upon their attempt to assert by force their right to ride in the street cars. The freedmen who entered the cars have, however, been released on bail, those only being detained in custody who were conspicuous in the row at the Station-house. I am inclined to think that the military authorities are in no hurry to adjudicate this case, preferring to await some decision of a civil Court, which may serve as a guide for their action. Meantime some of the freedmen, at the instance of white Radicals, are actively preparing to test the question of their legal right to a seat in the Company's cars before the Civil Courts of the State. How their application will fare before the lower tribunals is uncertain; but if unsuccessful there, it will immediately be carried before the United States District Court, where its fate is not doubtful. It is well understood that Judge Bryan will decide the matter in accordance with the spirit of the Civil Rights Bill. In that event the Company must succumb to the disagreeable necessity of admitting all classes alike to the enjoyment of the facilities of the street railway. Most people predict that this will at once break up the line; but I apprehend that the negroes will show little disposition to ride in the cars after their right to admission has ceased to be a novelty; and I think that human nature may safely be trusted not to submit, for any length of time, to trudging long distances in the dog-days for the sake of a mawkish sensitiveness on the subject of negro equality.

ARREST OF A RENOWNED BURGLAR.

One day last week a United States revenue cutter anchored in the Edisto River and landed a couple of detectives, attended by a subaltern and sixteen men of the regiment of regulars which forms the post garrison of Charleston. The party proceeded quietly for a short distance into the interior of Edisto Island, and on reaching a large and thriving country store the guards were stationed around it, and the detectives entered. In response to their summons the proprietor of the establishment, one John Wright, made his appearance. A very brief colloquy satisfied the officers that they had found the object of their visit. Wright was speedily handcuffed and, together with such papers as were found upon the premises, was hurried to the cutter, which immediately returned to Charleston. On his arrival here the prisoner was at once forwarded to Washington. The arrest was conducted with so much secrecy and celerity as to almost entirely escape public observation here; and on the island, where Wright had become well known, his sudden disappearance would have been altogether unaccountable, but for the explanations of some freedmen who were present at the time of his apprehension. I learn that Wright has been identified as one of the most famous and successful of the London burglars. The boldness and skill of his operations had rendered him well known to the English police, under the name of "Four-fingered Jack," a soubriquet originating in the circumstance of one of his thumbs being shot off. It is said that he was the principal in the large robbery which occurred at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard a year or two ago; and also that he had a hand in the rifling of the Adams Express Company's car, which about the same time created so great a stir in the newspapers. It appears that he has one of the largest and best organized gang of rogues who have ever chosen the United States as a field for their operations. Counterfeiting, forgery and burglary seem to have been the special departments of rascality to which Wright and his colleagues in crime had devoted their talents. It speaks well, however, for the efficiency of the detective system of our Government that on the same day on which Wright was arrested the officers of the law pounced upon great numbers of those who are believed to have been his confederates in different parts of the United States, but chiefly in the State of New-York. "Four-fingered Jack," alias Wright, is an Englishman, of rather pleasing address, and was extensively engaged in cotton planting operations on the Sea Islands of this State. It is certain that since his arrival in South Carolina he has always had the control of abundant funds, and in all his business doings he is said to have exhibited an honorable and even liberal spirit. When his case comes up for trial we shall doubtless have some queer developments. Q.

The Future of the Sea Island People—The Immoralities Which They Practice—How They May be Corrected.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Beaufort, S. C., Thursday, April 11, 1867.

The gravest fears are to be entertained by every thoughtful person concerning the future condition of these Sea Island people, because of one terrible evil, which if not speedily restrained is sure to end in the moral and material destruction of the negro race. I refer to the want of chastity by which the entire race are being rapidly demoralized. I am speaking of facts, not for sensation purposes, nor that I may make a point against the propriety of their enjoying human rights. I am living with my family on a plantation among them where I have lived for the past four years, and I am speaking for their best good. The facts I would state are these: Among the two plantations of people adjoining me on one side there is scarcely one young woman who has arrived at the age of 15 or 16 years who has not become a mother outside of wedlock. Of these children thus born the large majority are half white and were born during the war. But this terrible work, superadded to the habits of slave life, is now going on apace and I know on these same places of eight married women who have the evidences of their infidelity about them. In some of these cases the husband takes umbrage at the conduct of the wife and leaves her, in others not. The worst feature of the matter is that this conduct does not outcast the actors in it, nor is it so frowned upon as to render them obnoxious. Some of the older of them and better of the people see the evil and lament over it, "but dese young people be spile by close freedom." These are not exceptional plantations. It was not so with them when I first came here. This fearful condition was brought about by Union officers and soldiers. No people were so while under my supervision, because I was careful to keep them away from Beaufort and from camps. Those people who have been habitually away from Beaufort are free from that sad blight, at least measureably so. But the horrible condition in which their marital relations are thrown by the system of Slavery and the breaking up caused by the war, enhances the difficulty of reform greatly. Husbands and wives are constantly returning to their former companions to find them in new relations of long standing, and with new sets of children. Many church leaders, who are not ministers, are in the habit of marrying or of giving permission to live without marrying until a minister shall come around. Such things, together with the results of the system of Slavery, have fearfully lowered the dignity and solemnity of the marriage relation. Divorces are granted by permission of church authorities composed entirely of blacks, so that it is impossible for them to be settled on any such permanent foundation as cases of such momentous importance call for. Under the Freedmen's Bureau there is no practical system of divorces adopted—not here, at least. Persons who are mere exhorters marry with impunity. Persons legally married separate at will, and again marry other parties, in all the forms of law sometimes, so loosely are such things allowed to be conducted here. Persons by the score live together "just so," without any form of marriage. Now I am not talking by way of prejudice, and I am prepared to vouch for the truth of every one of the above statements. But can such a state of things be remedied? Most certainly it can, as my personal experience proves. They are just as responsive to correct moral teaching on this subject as any other people. My own personal protest and teaching has always broken it up on my own place and on places under my direct influence. A man brought a woman on the place as his wife. When asked if he was married, he said no. Then, I replied, do you immediately go and be married, or do you leave my place at once, for I will allow no man and woman to live together with me like the hogs. Another young man marries, through an ordained minister, a young woman on my place, and makes a contract with me. Soon another woman, also married to this young man by an ordained minister, claims him as her husband. I at once bring the case before the Bureau authorities. They refer the case to the Church to settle. Now, to which Church? His first marriage was by a Baptist minister to a Baptist woman. His second marriage by a Methodist minister to a Methodist woman. But the Baptist Church takes the matter in hand and declares he had no just cause for leaving his Baptist wife, and that he must live with her. He declares he will not. I tell him I cannot decide his duty in the premises, but he must live with one wife or the other exclusively, or with neither. He lives with neither, on my place at least. I have a young woman as a laborer whose husband has been absent in the army ever since Sherman went through Georgia. She was befooled by a promise of marriage and became a mother. I pay her for all work and dismiss her from my employ; and this is the first case of those under my care since I have been on a plantation. The people live together in good order and are responsive to all moral teachings. And by this constant protest against such evil the people live comparatively purely, and are gradually being elevated to a higher standard of right and pure living. But can anything be done in a general way to arrest the evil spoken of? Not unless the men who beget these children are made to take care of their own offspring. I don't know as the Bureau can do anything in the matter, but there ought to be a thorough investigation from some source. Equally important is it that the matter of divorces should be referred to some authority competent to settle them equitably and permanently. As it is they do just as they please for all any one but the church may do or say. As it is, these people have mainly bought their own lands, are more and more living by themselves, and alone to themselves, have recently attained to full civil rights, and will rapidly become independent and defiant in their way of thinking and acting, and so will speedily be beyond the reach of all restraining influence, to rot in their own corruption. They are docile, responsive to culture, trusting, and capable of much development, and it is very sad to see them sinking to such terrible ruin. H.

Billiard Match at Schenectady.

Schenectady, N. Y., Friday, April 19.

A game of billiards, of 1,000 points, carom, for $100 aside, was played at the billiard-rooms of M. Horning, in this city, to-night. The contestants were Buck Saulsbury, of Albany, and Abm. Valentine, of Gloversville, Fulton County. The game, after a close contest of about three hours, was handsomely won by Valentine by 144 points. The betting was very spirited at the opening of the game, odds being two to one in favor of Saulsbury. A large number of spectators was present, including many of the prominent billiard players of the State.

NEW-YORK.

AFFAIRS AT THE STATE CAPITAL.

From Our Special Correspondent.

Albany, Friday, April 19, 1867.

The sands of this Legislature's life are fast running out. It will, in all human probability, adjourn within the next twenty-four hours. Bills are passed in either House with bewildering rapidity. The Central Railroad Bill, which was passed in the Assembly yesterday by a most ingenious Parliamentary ruse, has yet to be taken up and considered in the Senate; and it is impossible to predict with any certainty, so long as this powerful obstacle is in the way, when the Legislature will finally adjourn; but all the indications are that it will not continue in session beyond to-morrow (Saturday) at midnight.

CITY TAX LEVY.

Yesterday afternoon the Assembly, in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the City Tax Levy.

Speaker Pitts offered an amendment to the paragraph relating to the salary of the City Chamberlain, to the effect that the funds committed to that officer's charge should be divided equally between three banks, or trust companies, for safe keeping; the three selected to be those which should pay the highest rate of interest, security to be given by them, and the interest on all the moneys so deposited in their keeping to go into the sinking fund, to be applied on the general debt of the City.

A lively little debate ensued upon this. Mr. Wilber, Republican, opposed the amendment. He said the question which the amendment involved came up before the Committee when this bill was being prepared, but it was decided that such a provision could not be legally enacted. The Committee believed that as the Chamberlain gives bonds for the safe keeping of the City's moneys, he cannot legally transfer the funds to any other party or parties.

Mr. Speaker Pitts advocated his amendment with much earnestness. He said that hitherto the Chamberlain had received, as a perquisite of his office, all the interest on moneys in his keeping, and thereby his salary had really amounted to a princely sum each year. If $10,000 was not a large enough sum to compensate the officer for the risks he must take, make it $15,000, or $20,000, or even $50,000, only name the sum, and let the large amount of money which has swelled the receipts of the office so long be appropriated for the use of the people. He denied that any legal question was in the way. The banks which should keep the funds in trust must give satisfactory security, and therefore the security was doubled over the former plan.

Mr. Wood, Republican, supported the amendment. After a spicy debate as to the legality of the proposition, its feasibility if legal, and its prospective results, it was defeated.

Mr. Pitts then offered another amendment, giving the Chamberlain a salary of $20,000 instead of $10,000, and compelling him to pay over into the Sinking Fund of the City the interest on all moneys placed in his charge.

Mr. Creamer, Democrat, opposed this. He said all the talk about the Chamberlain receiving $100,000 of interest was humbug. He received no more than a fair salary.

Mr. Pitts said it was quite generally understood that the City Chamberlain's office was a home for a large number of refugees, who could get no office, and who lived off the large proceeds which ought to go toward liquidating the City's indebtedness. His last motion, like the first, was voted down.

The paragraph making appropriations for various church schools was amended by adding $5,000 each to St. Peter's School, St. Mary's School, St. Theresa's School, and School of the Church of the Transfiguration.

Mr. Bigelow, Republican, moved to further amend by giving a like sum to the Young Men's Christian Association of New-York City, and spoke briefly in support of it. Mr. Sigerson, Democrat, said the object was every way worthy, and he hoped it would pass. It was duly carried.

After a few minor amendments, the bill was progressed.

In the House the report of the Committee was disagreed to, and the bill ordered to a third reading.

EXCISE BILL.

At the opening of last evening's session of the Assembly, Mr. Robertson, Democrat, of Albany, moved to go into Committee of the Whole on the Excise Bill. On this the yeas and nays were called, and the motion was defeated by a vote of 49 to 44.

BROADWAY UNDERGROUND.

Directly after this Mr. Vandenburgh, Republican, of Wayne, moved to take up the Broadway Underground Bill. The yeas and nays were also called on this, resulting in 61 nays to 50 yeas.

COMMISSIONER OF EMIGRATION.

Frederic Kapp was confirmed Commissioner of Emigration by the Senate in Executive Session to-day.

METROPOLITAN EXCISE LAW.

The high contracting powers have agreed upon certain amendments to the Metropolitan Excise Law. They are to the following effect: Licenses are to be granted for the sale of ale and beer only for $100. To ordinary hotel and restaurant keepers not less than $100 nor more than $250, to be fixed by the Board. First-class hotels and restaurant keepers, $500. All places licensed to be closed between 1 A. M. and 4 A. M., and to be closed from midnight on Saturday til 4 A. M. on Monday.

NEW CAPITOL.

The Senate has agreed to appropriate $250,000 towards the new Capitol at Albany.

NOTARIES PUBLIC FOR NEW-YORK CITY.

MEXICO.

Reports by Way of San Francisco.

San Francisco, Wednesday, April 17.

The report that the forces of Maximilian had succeeded in retiring from Queretaro without being obliged to give battle, and the rumors that a portion of the Liberal army had been defeated, and that the Liberals were suffering from lack of supplies, are contradicted by advices received here direct from the scene of war in Mexico. The statement that a revolution had broken out in San Luis Potosi, headed by Gen. Herrera, is also denied. Letters from President Juarez received here to day make no mention of any disturbances having taken place, nor do they anticipate any.

Consul Godfrey has received a letter from Gen. Corona, with reference to the operations which took place at Queretaro on the 16th ult. It states that the Liberals made a reconnoissance in force, which brought on an engagement that lasted eight hours, and resulted in driving the Imperialists from some of their positions. The Liberals engaged numbered 26,000, and the Imperialists 10,000.

Gen. Placido Vega was at Mazatlan four days in disguise, engaged in a conspiracy against the Liberal Government. His political friends were impressed with the belief that there was a party in Sinaloa ready to proclaim him the Governor of that Province. The supplies of arms which were taken out from San Francisco by Gen. Vega had been hidden in the mountains, with the exception of a small quantity which had been given up to Gen. Paras.

A letter from Lower California gives an account of an attempted revolution in that quarter. On the 1st of April, Gaston D'Artois landed at La Paz, from Mazatlan, and proclaimed Navarette, the revolutionary exile, as Governor of the State, announcing that he would arrive at La Paz by the next steamer, with 200 men, and reinstate himself. While on the way from San Jose to La Paz D'Artois enlisted a few adherents of Navarette, and with their aid took San Antonio by surprise, taking the officials of the town prisoners.

From San Antonio he marched to La Paz, where he attacked the palace of the Governor, but finding himself suddenly surrounded by superior forces, fled with a small band of followers. He was pursued, captured, and was to have been shot on the 9th of April.

According to the statement of the facts received here, the revolution was a petty affair. It contemplated a scheme of plunder by which American residents as well as natives would have suffered. His designs were not countenanced by the Government of Juarez. His story of the approach of Navarette was without foundation.

Disgraceful Row Between Officers at Fortress Monroe—Officers of Registration.

Fortress Monroe, Thursday, April 18.

A ripple of excitement was created here at an early hour this morning by a spirited rencontre which occurred between two of the officers of the Fifth Artillery, garrisoning the fort. Ill-feeling, it is said, was engendered between them on account of a change in the recent appointments made in the regiment, by which Lieut. Day was ordered to the Dry Tortugas instead of the command of Key West, the original station assigned him, while Lieut. Zalinski, his opponent, was favored with the latter command, instead of being sent to the sand-hills and beaches of the Tortugas. This change, it is alleged, was effected by the latter officer's political friends in Washington, and it occasioned not a few bitter remarks in the regiment against such an injudicious policy. Lieut. Day, while on the wharf this morning awaiting the arrival of the Richmond steamer, was accosted by Lieut. Zalinski, who demanded that he should apologize for the remarks he had made prejudicial to the latter officer's reputation for courage. Lieut. Day refused, and a severe blow in the face was administered by his antagonist. This was the signal for quite a belligerent exhibition, which, however, was terminated before any serious results were visible, by the timely interference of other officers. Lieut. Day came off unscathed, but Lieut. Zalinski, in addition to some bruises, had the mortification of having his shoulder-strap torn off, probably in the excitement of the moment, by another officer, acting as the Adjutant-General to Gen. Barton, commanding the post. The affair is greatly deprecated by the officers of the regiment, and an investigation will likely ensue.

A large number of appointments have been made among the officers of the Fifth United States Artillery, to the position of registering officers for the different Counties of Virginia. As soon as the official orders arrive from Washington, the officers will proceed at once to the designated counties and enter upon their respective duties.

Flood in the Missouri River.

Leavenworth, Kansas, Friday, April 19.

The Missouri River is higher than at any time since 1844, and the water is still rising. Farmers in the bottoms are moving back. Everything movable is swept away. Two miles of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, between Wyandotte and Kansas City, have been abandoned, and passengers are transferred by boat. The Omaha Union Pacific Railroad track is covered with water for miles, and so badly damaged that it will be several weeks before trains can run through.

Rebel Outrages in Kentucky.

Maysville, Ky., Thursday, April 19.

Hon. R. T. Baker, the Union candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, was prevented from speaking at Germantown to-day by a gang of returned rebels. He was warned that violence would be done him if he made the attempt. Some buildings were fired by the desperadoes, and a portion of the town was destroyed.

Republican Mass Meeting at Petersburgh, Va.

Petersburgh, Va., Friday, April 19.

A Republican mass meeting was held here to-night, to ratify the resolutions of the Richmond Convention. An address was delivered by Mr. Co[illegible]nay of New-York

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Good Friday.

Yesterday being Good Friday, was appropriately observed in the Roman Catholic and Protestant Episcopal Churches. At Trinity Church there was a full choral service in the forenoon, and Rev. Dr. VINTON preached a sermon in keeping with the solemnities of the day. At St. Paul's the services were of an interesting character, and were participated in by a large congregation. Mayor HOFFMAN was the only member of the City Government present. Rev. Dr. MORGAN, Rector of St. Thomas' Church, who has been occupying the pulpit of Grace Church while St. Thomas' new Church has been in process of building, preached a farewell discourse to the Grace Church congregation. On Sunday morning Dr. MORGAN's congregation will take possession of their new church at the corner of Fifth-avenue and Fifty-third-street. At St. Alban's Church, in Forty-seventh-street, near Lexington-avenue, there was a large congregation. Throughout this week the cross and the gospel and epistle candlesticks, with the altar, have been draped in black. During Lent the drapery was purple, and on Easter it will be white. At matin and vesper services yesterday the Rector, Rev. CHARLES W. MORRILL, wore a white surplice over a black cassock, and a black stole with a cross at the back of the neck and one at each extremity. He was assisted by Rev. Mr. NOYES and Rev. Dr. LUNDY. After the special services of the day, Rev. Mr. MORRILL preached a sermon on "The Death of Christ" from these words: "He said it is finished, and he bowed his head and gave up the ghost." At the Roman Catholic churches the usual services were celebrated during the morning, and wherever it was practicable the people refrained from their ordinary avocations. The suspension of business throughout the City was but partial, and not sufficient to impress any person that the day was one of an unusual character. Yet a number of persons who are sufficiently interested in stocks to sway the financial interests which centre in our City, voted that the Stock Board should adjourn until to-day. Some banking houses were partially closed. The State Courts transacted no business whatever. In the evening, such of the churches as had services were well attended. Altogether the solemnities of the day were such as were calculated to impress the minds of the religiously inclined portion of the people with lessons which they will cherish hereafter. The liberal Christian denominations held a special service in the Twenty-eighth-street Church. Rev. Dr. CHAPIN, Rev. Dr. BELLOWS, and Rev. Dr. OSGOOD, took part. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. OSGOOD, and his subject was "The Progressive Spirit of the Age."

Erection of New Stores—Contemplated Changes in Union-square.

Notwithstanding the high price of building materials and labor a large number of first-class stores and warehouses were commenced during the past year, some of them being indeed of more imposing appearance and of finer finish than any heretofore erected in this City.

Among the principal of these not heretofore noticed may be named the buildings Nos. 22, 24 and 26 White-street, erected for Mr. JOHN SLADE. They are six stories in height, have a frontage of 75 feet and are 100 feeet in depth. The architecture is of the Renaissance style. The cost was $130,000.

No. 207 Fulton-street is a five-story building, with marble front, the dimensions being 25x82. The cost was $100,000.

At No. 46 Vesey-street a five-story brick store has been completed. The front is of white marble. The dimensions are 25x90. The cost was $100,000.

Messrs. SOLOMONS & SONS are erecting some handsome stores at Nos. 657 and 659 Broadway. The fronts are of white marble, and the estimated cost is something almost fabulous.

Messrs. D. & J. JARDINE are erecting the five-story brick store No. 19 Church-street. The dimensions are 25x50.

Messrs. HERNE, HUBE & Co. are putting up a substantial brick store at 34 Walker-street. The lower stories are of iron.

The buildings Nos. 363, 365 and 367 Greenwich-street are being built for Mr. WM. KAIN. They are to cost $20,000 each; dimensions 25x92.

Messrs. SOLEILAC, FRERES have commenced operations for the erection of a fine building at the corner of Worth-street and Broadway. It is to be five stories in heighth with a marble front. The dimensions will be 50x97; the cost about $125,000.

The old brewery of JOHN KERR, Nos. 51 and 53 Leonard-street, has been sold to a Boston firm who intend to erect a five-story building on the two lots.

Messrs. J. HAMILTON & Co. have erected the two stores, Nos. 455 and 457 Broadway. They are five stories in heigth, each 25x100 feet.

The new stores Nos. 827, 829 and 831 Broadway, are owned by Mr. PETER LORILLARD. They are four stories in height, each 38x100 feet, and have marble fronts. The cost of the whole will be over $200,000.

At Nos. 227 and 229 Broadway, two stores are being erected for Mr. ALEXANDER HAMILTON. They are faced with Nova Scotia stone. They are five stories in height, have a frontage of 47 feet, and run back 142 feet. The estimated cost is $150,000. They are said to be anything but substantial structures.

Nos. 47 and 49 White-street are six-story brick buildings, 25x100 feet each. The cost is estimated at $65,000.

Nos. 39 and 41 Walker-street are to cost $90,000. They are five stories in height, 48x90, and are to be faced with stone.

Mr. CHARLES HUBEL is building the five-story brick factory Nos. 92, 94, 96, 98 and 100 Cannon-street. The dimensions are 102x59 feet.

Two new stores of brick and iron have lately been commenced in Pine-street, below William. They are five stories in height, 50 feet front, and will probably cost $60,000.

The erection of many new buildings for business purposes will, it is expected, be commenced in a short time. The Park Bank will shortly commence their new banking-house on Broadway, between Fulton and Ann streets. It will be five stories in height, with a marble front and a Mansard roof. The facade will have a frontage of sixty feet on Broadway, and will be adorned with statues and a handsome portico. The principal banking room will be one of the finest and most commodious in this or any other city, and the whole building will, if the plans be carried out, be an ornament to the City.

In Union-square and the vicinity many changes will take place. The Fenian Headquarters—Moffat Mansion—has passed into the hands of ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & Co., who will transform it into a dry goods store. The adjoining property, running through to Seventeenth street, has been purchased by JACKSON & Co., grate and fender manufacturers. MAILLARD, of chocolate fame, has bought the building at the south-west corner of Fourteenth-street and University-place. The Union League Club have made up their minds to sell their property and move up town. The Athenæum Club will follow their example, so far as moving is concerned. The Traveler's Club will become a carriage repository after the 1st of May, and the New-York Club will change their quarters next year. The Church of the Puritans has been purchased by TIFFANY & Co., the well-known jewelers, who do not, however, contemplate making any change in the structure at present. The lots on which Messrs. CHITTENDEN & Co.'s lately stood, in Broadway, have become the property of one of our Telegraph companies, who will ere long erect a fine building thereon.

The high price of materials and the strike of workmen connected with the trade, have been the cause of many contemplated building operations being postponed indefinitely.

Convention of the Theta Delta Chi.

The twentieth annual Convention of the Theta Delta Chi Fraternity was held at the Astor House yesterday, in Room No. 14. Forty or fifty delegates were in attendance, representing chapters of the Fraternity in Union College, Troy Polytechnic Institute, Brown University, Hobart College, Jefferson College, Tuft's College, Carlisle College, Lafayette College, and others. There was also an informal representation from several chapters in Southern colleges, whose connection with the fraternity was suspended by the war. Among those were William and Mary's College, Virginia, the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia. All sections of the Union were represented, and all the leading professions. The special business of the Convention this year was to take measures for the reorganization of the Southern chapters and the restoration of the social intercourse and good feeling that existed before the war. There were representatives present who fought on either side during the conflict now so happily ended, and all seemed actuated by a desire to "reconstruct" as speedily as possible the social framework shattered by the war, and to inaugurate anew the era of good feeling and brotherhood between the two sections of the country. The Southern Chapters of the fraternity will be reorganized and put in friendly connection with the Northern Chapters as fast as the Southern colleges are opened.

To-day the Convention will listen to an oration from Judge MORRIS, of Brooklyn, to be followed by a poem from JOHN BROUGHAM. The exercises will not be public. The Convention will close their proceedings with a banquet at the Astor House this evening.

POLICE COURTS.

THE TOMBS—DOWLING, JUSTICE.

ROWDIES ON THE RAMPAGE.

Just before the arrival of the Excise time of closing liquor-saloons, MARTIN REYNOLDS, of No. 69 James-street, proceeded on Thursday night to close his place. While thus engaged, JAMES RODAHAN, STEPHEN COLLINS and eight or ten other men, all street loungers and corner rowdies, made an assault upon REYNOLDS, knocked him down, and then kicked and beat him in the most shameful manner. After placing the liquor-dealer hors de combat, the assailants went behind the bar and robbed the till of $10 in fractional currency, after which they endeavored to make their escape. Officers CRAIG and ANDERSON, of the Fourth Precinct, heard the disturbance and ran to REYNOLDS' assistance, succeeding in arresting COLLINS and RODAHAN. The others, of course, escaped arrest, as the officers found their hands full. Yesterday both of the prisoners were arraigned before the Justice, when REYNOLDS made a complaint against them for assault and robbery. The accused were held for trial on both charges, and locked up in default of bail.

DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Mrs. ELLEN HATCH was arraigned before the Court yesterday, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at No. 117 Prince-street, where disreputable characters habitually congregate. A complaint was made by AUGUSTUS BACON, of No. 101 Prince-street, who was catechised severely by Justice DOWLING, considerably to BACON's detriment. The prisoner was held to bail for trial, JOHN C. SMITH, of No. 564 Broadway, giving the necessary bonds. BACON was sent to the House of Detention.

THE ROYAL INSURANCE BOND ROBBERY.

The examination in the case of ROBERT K. STERLING, charged with guilty possession of $5,000 worth of United States bonds, alleged to have been stolen from the Royal Life Insurance Company, was resumed yesterday. CHARLES H. KING testified that he knew the accused in Texas, where he was a Government contractor. ANTHONY B. MCDONALD, agent of the Insurance Company, was cross-examined, and stated that civil proceedings were in progress against two men, believed to be the original thieves of $200,000 worth of bonds and securities. The five bonds traced to the prisoner were a portion of those stolen. Witness had received $75,000 worth of registered stock, but declined to give any name. Counsel for the defence wished to know from whom these securities were received, for it put a new face upon the matter. He had reason to believe that the thieves were well known. The further hearing was then adjourned until Monday, the 29th inst., to allow the defence to procure the attendance of the detectives engaged in the case, who did not appear. The accused is still at large on bail.

JEFFERSON MARKET—DODGE, JUSTICE.

ATTEMPT AT TILL-TAPPING.

A young man named WILLIAM MCGIBBONS, was arrested upon the charge of attempting to rob a till of $50 in money. It appears that the accused and a fellow-clerk named HENRY BUTT, were employed by CHRISTOPHER KORNER, of No. 260 Tenth-avenue, hardware dealer. On the 12th inst., while the proprietor was absent from his store on business, BUTT also went out for the purpose of getting a bill changed, and upon his return caught MCGIBBONS with his hand in the drawer. Upon being detected the accused ran away, but was subsequently arrested by a police officer. The Magistrate held him for examination in default of bail.

FORGED ORDERS.

Messrs. HAYDEN, GERE & Co. are hardware merchants at No. 84 Beekman-street. On the 15th inst., as is alleged, one JOHN A. NUGENT went to their place of business and presented an order purporting to have been drawn by PHILPIN & QUINN for about $45 worth of goods, which were to be charged to their account. The day following a second order bearing the same signature, and calling for $15 worth of goods, was presented by the same individual. Not doubting for an instant the genuineness of the orders, Messrs. HAYDEN, GERE & Co. delivered the merchandise, and subsequently rendered a bill, where the fraud was discovered. NUGENT was accordingly arrested, and committed by the Magistrate for examination.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

A DISGUSTED BURGLAR.—A few days ago an unknown man called at the Franklin-street Police-station, and inquired for Capt. JOURDAN. As that official was out, the messenger left a letter and parcel for the Captain. The letter, on being opened by the receiver, read as follows.

NEW-YORK, April 17, 1867.

To Capt. Jourdan, Esq.:

Having been a burglar for the last fifteen years, and always successful with the exception of once, and that being when I fell into your hands, and you being untiring in prosecuting me, I was convicted and sentenced to the State Prison. After serving my time out I thought you would have forgotten me, and there would be nobody to interfere with me, I started again at my old calling, and the first burglary that I intended to commit was frustrated again by you. I tried again and again, and was always met by yourself or your shadow haunting me wherever I went or done. Now I am disgusted with you and thieving in general, and, therefore, I send you, through the bearer, all my tools, being a selection that many a modern cracksman would be proud to possess. You will find tools there that will open a money-drawer, a chest, a trunk; tools that will open or burst an iron door, tools that will raise a scuttle or go through a brick wall, and, again, tools that will burst any safe in the country. You will find there a good many keys that will open any common lock, and, again, keys for the most difficult locks. I make you a present of all, and think you are the only man worthy to receive them, because, aside of all, I can only praise your ingenuity in ferretting out a case. I never saw or heard of your equal, I can assure you. For my part, I will try to earn an honest living, and keep out of your way. Most respectfully yours.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

On examining the package accompanying this letter, the Captain found it to contain a full set of burglar's tools, all made in the best manner. The following is a list of the articles: 44 safe and store door keys, 12 pick locks, 23 drills, 3 punches, 1 bullet mould, 10 files, 1 screw-driver, 4 cold chisels, 6 steel hooks for wrenching open safes, 1 fine saw for iron, 1 brace and bit, 6 pieces of wax for taking impressions of locks and keys, 1 steel "jimmy," 1 screw wrench, and a package of gunpowder. Capt. JOURDAN has added them to his cabinet of such curiosities.

A THIEVING EQUESTRIAN.—On Thursday night Detectives VAUGHN and NIVEN, of the Central Office, arrested ROBERT H. HOLMES, alias Sinclair, alias Dare, an equestrian performer. It appears that HOLMES roomed with JAMES BARNES, an actor performing at the Academy of Music, in Albany, and suddenly disappeared, as did also a valuable coat belonging to BARNES. It being ascertained that the fugitive was in New-York, a complaint was made before Justice COLE, of Albany, who issued a warrant for HOLMES' arrest. Chief of Police ALLEN immediately telegraphed to Police Headquarters, and caused his arrest at the Revere House, corner of Broadway and Houston-street. Detective KELLY, of the Albany Police, left for the capital yesterday afternoon with the accused.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED.—An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner GOVER, at Bellevue Hospital, over the body of JOHN KAHRS, whose death was the result of injuries received on Wednesday, by being thrown from a truck laden with hay, in Perry-st., near West, as already reported. The horses became frightened and ran away, when the truck collided with a lamp-post, which caused deceased to fall off and strike on the pavement headforemost. He was quite sensible, but speechless, when picked up, in which condition he remained until death ensued. Deceased was a native of Germany, 47 years of age, and leaves a widow and three children at No. 436 West Twenty-fifth-st. A verdict of accidental death was rendered.

THE CHURCH OF THE PURITANS.—This edifice has passed into the hands of Messrs. TIFFANY & Co., the well-known Broadway jewelers. For the present no alterations will be made in the building, and parties desirous of securing it for religious services, anniversary and other meetings of a similar character can do so by applying to the present owners.

PERSONAL.—SAML. CLEMENS, Esq., (Mark Twain,) has taken passage in the Quaker City for the Mediterranean excursion. He is to furnish letters while absent for a San Francisco paper. "The Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock" goes also in the Quaker City, taking his silver drum with him.

LAW REPORTS.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE.

Before Commissioner Stillwell.

Benjamin F. Okie, the mailing clerk who was arrested on Monday on a charge of stealing a letter which was passing through the Post-office, was brought up for examination yesterday.

Mr. Gayler, special agent of the New-York Post-office Department, testified: We have missed several letters containing money from the Dead Letter-office; on the 11th instant I went into the City delivery-room to Okie, and said that I wanted to see him in my private office; he then came with me; asked him to describe his method of mailing unpaid letters to the Dead Letter office; he said he arranged them alphabetically, made them up in packages, and then placed them in the Washington mail-bag; I then showed him twenty letters which had been held for postage in the Dead Letter-office, New-York, on the 9th of April, and which bore marks of having been opened and sealed up again before having reached the Dead Letter-office; asked him for an explanation; he said he could give none, and that he had not opened any; asked him how it was when letters from New-York reached the Dead Letter Office, some of them, which were called for by the list did not appear in the packages; he answered, "I cannot explain;" asked him how it was that packages which had been put in the Washington bags were in the same condition; he still asserted he knew nothing about it; told him it was sufficiently suspicious for me to be compelled to search him; that morning I had sent a letter addressed to Francis Kuiser, Philadelphia; Mr. Kuiser is the Special Post-office Agent there; the letter contained $450, each piece being marked by myself; the letter was not prepaid, and of course passed through the prisoner's hands; upon searching the prisoner, found this very money; then said to him, "Why did you do this? You must have known it would be found out sooner or later;" he answered, "What do you mean?" I then explained, and he said it was the first letter he had opened.

The further examination was set down for Monday next.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT—PART II.

Before Judge Barnard and a Jury.

LIABILITIES OF EXPRESS COMPANIES—INTERESTING CASE.

A. F. Cochran vs. Adams Express Company.—This action, which was referred to in the TIMES of the 19th inst., is worthy of a more extended report. The plaintiff sought to recover the sum of $5,000 from the Adams Express Company under the following circumstances: On the 9th of March, 1863, he delivered to an agent of that Company at Boston $5,000 in legal-tender notes, with instructions that the same should be conveyed to New-Orleans and there held subject to his order. The Company at Boston gave one of their usual receipts, on which was a printed form which was to the effect that they would not be responsible for loss arising from railroad or steamboat accidents, or for the laches or mismanagement of any person or persons, other than their regularly authorized agents. The money came on to this City, where with other funds which had been intrusted to the Company, and which amounted in all to about $85,000, was placed in the Company's safe and put aboard the steamer Bio Bio bound for New-Orleans by way of Havana. From some of the testimony it appears the safe was put in the forward upper hold, among the Havana freight, and there was some effort to show that in consequence of this, it was taken off at the latter port. The burden of the testimony was, however, that it went on in the steamer, which arrived near her wharf at New-Orleans at about midnight of the 22d of March. She could not get up to her dock in consequence of the fact that two vessels were lying there. At between 8 and 9 o'clock the next morning, Sunday, the Bio Bio was discovered to be on fire, and notwithstanding all the efforts that were made by firemen, soldiers and others, she was soon consumed to the water's edge, and the hull and contents sank in deep water. Soon after measures were taken to recover the lost treasure. A Mr. John K. Scott, an experienced diving-bell wrecker, was employed. The location of the burned steamer was pointed out by the Captain and other officers, and the sum of $10,000 was offered if he could recover the treasure, &c., from the wreck. Men were thereupon set to work and two or three months were occupied in the search. They found the hull of the vessel intact, and about all the cargo was recovered, with the exception of this safe. That, after long and diligent search by the wreckers, was given up. Hence it was argued that one of two things must have happened to it—either that it was put off at Havana with the freight destined for that port, and among which it was stowed, or else that it had been clandestinely taken from the Bio Bio sometime during the night of her arrival alongside of the vessels lying at the wharf. Counsel contended that the latter alternative was not an improbable one. It could quite easily have been taken out during the darkness of the night, lowered into a small boat and taken ashore. There was no other way of satisfactorily explaining the inability of the indefatigable wreckers to find the safe. The hull of the vessel was found and all her cargo except that was discovered just as it was when the wreck sank to the bottom of the Mississippi. The deposition of Mr. Scott, the foreman of the wreckers, was read, in which he stated the efforts that had been made for the recovery of the cargo, and the fact that the safe could not be found.

The defendants did not deny the receipt of the money by them from the plaintiff in Boston, to be conveyed to New-Orleans; neither did they deny that the money was not delivered as agreed. But they insisted that they had in every respect complied with the terms of their agreement. They introduced testimony to show that after the steamer left Havana this safe was transferred to the lower hold. Evidence of a similar nature was also given by Mr. Horace W. Bates, one of the Company's agents. Counsel referred to the printed clause in the receipt whereby the Company undertook to limit their liability, and insisted that it was designed to guard against loss in just such cases as this. It was an inevitable accident. The steamer could not get up to her wharf when she arrived at New-Orleans. When the fire broke out everything was done that could be under the circumstances to extinguish the flames, and by the plaintiff's own showing every effort had been made that experienced wreckers could make to recover the treasure. The most natural presumption would be that this safe, weighing some 1,600 pounds, was now lying buried deep in the mud at the bottom of the Mississippi. But whether that were so or not, it was clear that the plaintiff could not recover on this state of facts, and he (counsel) would move that the complaint be dismissed.

The Court took this view of the case, and accordingly non-suited the plaintiff, but gave him leave to take the case to the General Term, where it will be heard on the questions of law involved.

At the commencement of this trial a little episode occurred which it will be interesting to notice. Judge NOAH DAVIS, who is holding this branch of the Court during the present term, was on the bench; the jury were empaneled and counsel for plaintiff commenced the opening of the case. He said it was an action brought against the Adams Express Company.

Judge Davis—What, against the Adams Express Company! Why there is nothing in the title to indicate that.

Mr. Nash—No, your Honor, it is not an incorporated company, but a joint stock association. We sued Mr. Dinsmore as President. I hope your Honor is not a stockholder in the Company.

Judge Davis—Well, I am sorry to say that I am.

Mr. Nash—Well, I will consent to waive that, if the opposite counsel will, so that we may go on before your Honor.

Judge Davis—I would be glad to make an assignment of my stock. Still, I have no particular anxiety to try the cause.

Mr. Brady, for the defendants, said they would be entirely content to go on before His Honor. They had confidence that he would do justice between the parties. But he, counsel, believed that there was a statutory provision which interposed, and which rendered it impossible for them to make any agreement of the kind proposed.

The Court agreed in this suggestion, and hence it became necessary to call upon Judge BARNARD to try the action.

For plaintiff, Mr. S. P. Nash; for defendants, Mr. J. T. Brady and Mr. Seward.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Garvin.

SLANDER—WHAT WORDS NOT ACTIONABLE PER SE.

Elizabeth Manning vs. George Glass.—The plaintiff brings action to recover $5,000 damages for defamation of her character. In her complaint she charges that the defendant called her a lewd woman, and that her daughter was illegitimate; and that she, the plaintiff, had men with her at all hours of the night, and that the defendant's wife and daughter united with him in applying the same opprobrious epithets.

The defendant moved to strike out the slanderous words as not being actionable per se, and that special damages should be averred in order to constitute any cause of action.

After argument, the Court granted the defendant's motion, with costs.

J. R. Berry for plaintiff; Alex. H. Reavey for defendant and the motion.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.

Before Judge McCunn and a Jury.

VERDICT AGAINST AN INSURANCE COMPANY.

Solomon M. Bierce vs. The Indemnity Fire Insurance Company.—This case, previously reported, which has occupied the Court for the last two weeks, was concluded yesterday by a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,158 76, the full amount claimed, with interest. The insurance was on a distillery in Ontario County, which the defendants claim was burnt by the procurement of the plaintiffs. Two similar suits have been tried in the country in both of which the defendants obtained a verdict. There are eight or ten more suits pending against different insurance companies in this and other cities.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge Herne and a Jury.

NEGLIGENCE IN CONVEYING CATTLE.

Mayer vs. The Central Railroad Company of New-Jersey.—During one of the hottest days of last July, the plaintiff, who is a cattle-dealer, shipped at Clinton Station, in New-Jersey, eight or ten cows and some calves, to be transported on the defendants' cars from that point to Elizabethport. When they arrived there one of the cows died, and some of the others were nearly dead. The plaintiff claimed that this state of things was owing to the negligence and want of care on the part of the defendants, and brought this action to recover damages for the loss. Testimony was given tending to show that the cattle were crowded into a close baggage-car, an hour and a half before the train started; that they were four hours on the passage without water, in that hot day; and several witnesses who noticed the poor animals with their tongues out, trying to breathe at a half-open window, thought that it was a most wanton and cruel piece of business on the part of the Company, thus to transport animals. It was contended that they should have been placed in an open, or ordinary cattle car, and water given to them.

The defence contended it was no fault of the Company; that the cow that died was not a sound one by any means; that she would have died out of the car, if she had not died in it; that there was no evidence to show that plaintiff did not get as much for his beef in the New-York market from the cows that it was pretended were injured, as he would if defendants had conveyed them in an open car and given them water on the route; and that at any rate it was an act of God, for which the Company could not be held responsible—in that he sent such hot weather.

The jury, however, took a different view of it, and therefore rendered a verdict for the plaintiff.

For plaintiff, Mr. Wilcoxson; for defendants, Messrs. Dimmick & Perry.

MONETARY AFFAIRS.

FRIDAY, April 19—P. M.

Notwithstanding the purpose of the Stock Exchange Boards and the Gold Room to observe Good Friday as a Holiday, the Brokers assembled in large numbers this morning in the lobby of the Gold Room to speculate in Gold, and on the sidewalks of Broad-street, in front of the Exchange, to deal in the Railways. The price of Gold was very much excited. The first sales were at 138¼@138⅜ ⅌ cent.; the next at 138⅛@138 ⅌ cent.; soon after, on later Continental Cable news, 138¾@⅞@139 ⅌ cent. The German houses had warlike advices from Berlin and Frankfort. Many of them profess to believe in an early outbreak between Prussia and France. The French and English firms, on the other hand, doubt the imminence of War. The telegrams to-day, however, notice another decline on the Paris Bourse. The Germans here, many of them at least, are speculating for a decided rise in Gold. They talk down 5-20s for the moment, while admitting that after the Continent is fairly in the War, American credits will find increased favor in Europe. The rates for Money in London and Paris continue very cheap, 3@4 ⅌ cent. below New-York, and the private banking balances on this side, belonging abroad, are on the increase, and not likely to be very materially drawn down by War in Europe, unless England should be drawn into the trouble.

The Foreign Exchanges for Saturday's [illegible] are nominally firm. London 109¼ for 60 days, and 110¼ for short sight, but the business is very much moderated by the advance in Gold. A large number of remitters are disposed to use their Money here for a short season longer rather than accept the rise in Gold as lasting, or the contingency of War as likely to advance the value of Money abroad. The May Dividends on United States 5-20s, owned abroad, and soon to be paid here, will enhance the demand for Exchange, over the ordinary Mercantile remittances, about $8,500,000. Should the War discussion continue ten days or a fortnight longer it is probable that most of these Dividends will go forward in Gold Coin. Should a larger export movement be required, the Gold will be readily had from the $15,500,000 May Dividends paid out from the Treasury on the same stocks. The Treasury itself will also be prepared to sell Gold in the open market at the going rates as soon as the actual condition of political affairs abroad and the probabilities of serious trouble can be reasonably measured from a New-York or Washington stand-point.

The business in the Railways on the Street was not very important. The prices, compared with Thursday night, were generally steady—somewhat inclined to firmness in Erie, and to activity in New-York Central. The latter sold up from 97¾ to 98¾ and back to 97¾@97 ⅌ cent. The bearish element on the Exchange and on the Street talked yesterday and this morning of the adverse effect of a War on the Continent upon our Railway market. Why it should be so in the present instance, as it never has been before under similar circumstances, it would probably puzzle these gentlemen to tell, since the effect already of the mere agitation of the subject is to advance the prices of Breadstuffs and Provisions on both sides the Atlantic, and to add to the probabilities of a heavier movement of Produce of every description from the West to the Seaboard, this Summer, than the Railways have had the advantage of for years past. The war talk on the Continent, the certainty of only moderate supplies of Grain in Great Britain—a fact which had much to do with the Liverpool market before this agitation—and the prospect of another fine harvest (exceeding the last in Wheat) throughout this country, will all contribute to bring forward nearly the whole of the present stocks in the interior.

We hear of no Cotton failures in Liverpool, and no additional suspensions here. About ten days ago a heavy speculator, who had drawn about £90,000 against Cotton, was advised (probably by Cable,) that his bills would not be accepted for over 8d. ⅌ lb. on his consignments. He thereupon stopped payment here, and the Scotia brought notice that the bills had been refused acceptance in Liverpool. This circumstance about a difficulty of ten days' standing yesterday gave rise to the rumor of heavy Cotton failures. The more recent failure of another Cotton house here (large factors for Texas, New-Orleans, &c.,) is supposed to have aggravated the decline in Liverpool, when made known and acted upon on Wednesday and Thursday.

Our neighbor of the Tribune finds it to his taste, when the Stock Exchange is depressed, to make fierce war upon the Railway interest of the whole country. He did so through the Winter and part of the Spring of 1866. He repeats himself this season. But his war is not to be persistent, judging from his antecedents. When the Stock Exchange reacts upward this Spring and Summer, as it is almost sure to do, and as it did last year, after Good Friday, he will probably let the Railways alone. He seldom strikes when they are strong in Wall-street. Just now he indulges in such ridiculous and sweeping assertions as the following. He quotes no example in its support. It is doubtful whether he could find or even pervert one to an argument so wholly untenable:

> "The temporary stimulus to railway enterprises given by moving armies and supplies during the rebellion is fast disappearing, and the old fact remains that roads moving agricultural produce in large amounts cannot earn enough to pay interest on cost."

We will now take the traffic of one of the finished trunk lines of the country, whose Stock and Debt have not been increased since the War, nor five years before the War, and which had as much to do with the transportation of the Army and Army supplies as most of the Eastern Roads. The figures speak for themselves.

A correspondent inquires if taxpayers are obliged, under the Internal Revenue Law, to make an income return without waiting for an official notification from the Assessor. In response, we would say that Commissioner ROLLINS, in his circular of instructions to Assessors of Internal Revenue, of the date of March 9, 1867, expressly ordered that:

> "Assessors should instruct their assistants to call personally upon those who have not returned their income as required by law. If any person is not at home, the notice on the back of Form 24 should be filled out and the blank left. This being done, it becomes the duty of the taxpayer to seek the Assistant Assessor and deliver his return."

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from Madison, Wis., under date April 11, furnishes the following information on the subject of the Wisconsin State finances:

> "You have already published the first report of the Finance Committee relative to the condition of the State finances. Their final report changed these figures somewhat, and provides for the levy of a State tax of $475,000, besides an amount already required to be levied for interest on the State debt of $169,393 75. Of the appropriations, $375,000 are for State institutions and the Capitol. The Committee estimate resources, aside from direct tax, at $274,000. Beside this, the State claims a balance due from the General Government, on account of war expenditures, of $195,931 67, earnest efforts to secure the settlement of which will be made, but no receipts into the State Treasury are really expected from that source. The Committee further say:
> If the provisions of the law of the present session for the collection of the 1½ ⅌ cent. tax for 1865 and 1866, on the capital of the National Banks in this State are complied with, or successfully enforced, the amount derived from this source, in addition to the $13,000 paid, will be about $65,000. The Committee, however, have not included this item in their estimates of the revenue for 1868.
> An increase of revenue will result from the passage of the proposed act imposing a license of one ⅌ cent. on the cash receipts of home insurance companies. The estimated receipts from insurance companies are $45,000 for 1868, against $38,000 already received in 1867. Your Committee have placed the railroad license payable in 1868, at $200,000, against $226,000 for 1867."

Secretary MCCULLOCH has issued the following circular to Collectors of Customs relative to canal-boats and barges:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, April 10, 1867.

SIR: It has been represented to this Department that certain irregularities exist in different districts in the collection of tonnage dues on canal-boats and other vessels.

With a view to establish a uniform, consistent and effectual method in the collection of all dues which may be lawfully chargeable on these vessels, your attention is respectfully called to Treasury Circular of 1st of November last, relative to tonnage, and especially to pages 10 and 14, wherein is shown the liabilities of these vessels, and the power of Collectors and Surveyors to seize and detain them for nonpayment of tonnage dues.

It is expected that Customs officers will use the utmost vigilance to see that no vessel be found in their respective districts which has not complied with the requirements of the law as set forth in the above-named circular.

Tonnage dues being now payable on the issuing or renewal of marine papers, these papers may and should, in all cases, be withheld until these dues are paid, and thus leave those which may prove delinquent, as undocumented vessels of the United States, and subject as such to alien tonnage duty, to be collected by process at law.

And to this end, when the efforts of collectors and surveyors fail, the several district-attorneys will be requested to second their exertions by instituting legal process in their respective districts against such boats, so soon as the same shall have been reported to the Department. And it is hereby made the duty of Customs officers forthwith to report all failures or refusals to pay such dues.

Especial attention is also directed to that class of flat-boats and barges which may claim the privilege of transporting coal, oil and agricultural products to market, by payment of the special Internal Revenue tonnage tax, lest they engage in the coasting trade without taking out a license and paying the higher tonnage dues incident thereto, to the detriment of legitimate coasters. For it will be borne in mind that, while regularly licensed coasting vessels may engage in such trade without being subject to said special tax, yet vessels having elected to engage under the Internal Revenue tax are not thereby exempted from the payment of the higher tonnage dues as coasters whenever they shall have abandoned the exclusive character and occupation to which said privileges attaches, as shown in the aforesaid circular.

Vigilance, fidelity and zeal in the prompt execution of the law in these cases, on the part of customs officers, would, it is believed, soon correct the evils which have elicited this circular, and render their future labors comparatively light.

Very respectfully,
HUGH MCCULLOCH,
Secretary of the Treasury.

California Flour and Wheat have been arriving lately at this port in liberal amounts, adding to the available supply of Breadstuffs, and serving to keep in check the upward tendency of prices. We find in a recent number of the Alta California the following interesting statistical exhibit on the Wheat crop of the Golden State:

> "The crop of wheat in California has been a subject of anxious consideration and of great practical importance, as well to dealers as to producers and consumers. There have, however, been no very accurate means of arriving at or nearly approximating the production. The Assessor's returns have not been very reliable. The United States census returns for 1860, as tested by the quantities received, those officially returned as exported, and the best estimates of consumption in the State, were nearly correct, because those figures corresponded with the returns of production very nearly. A new return has now been made by Mr. HENRY G. LANGLEY in his Pacific Coast Business Directory for 1867. This work contains a table of the grain product of the State from the land under cultivation in 1865. The work was gotten up at great expense for research and compilation, with the view to absolute accuracy, and, as far as we have yet examined it, the object seems to have been attained. We have to-day, however, only to do with the wheat crop. This is given for each county, showing the land in wheat and the product. These figures we have compared with those of the United States census for 1860, and the result is as follows:

Expressing the result in sacks, the crop of 1860 was 3,557,082 sacks, and that of the present year 6,747,476 sacks. The disposition is, then, nearly as follows:

Crop		6,747,476
Exports to date	3,511,777
Stock in Interior depots	1,170,000
Stock in city, including Flour	684,000
Consumed	900,000
Distilled	90,000
		6,355,777
Balance for seed, &c.		391,689

Here is an apparent difference of 391,689 sacks between the crop returns and the grain actually accounted for. This is a very fair corroboration of the accuracy of the returns, since, no doubt, much grain has been in the farmers' hands, used for seed. With these facts there is every reason to be satisfied. On inspecting the the table by Counties, it will be observed that the range of production is 20@30 sacks per acre. The last is the average in Santa Clara. Bringing down our weekly return of the crops, the results are as follows:

	1866. Sacks.	1867. Sacks.

This result gives a reduction in stock for the week.

Internal Revenue Decisions.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
WASHINGTON, April 6, 1867.

SIR: Your letter of March 27, relative to tax on "sweepings of cotton presses and damaged cotton," sold as "paper stock," from six to fifteen cents per pound, is received.

I reply that I know of no provision of law under which such cotton is exempted from the tax imposed by Section 1, Act of July 13, 1866. I cannot, therefore approve the custom of passing such cotton free of tax, but must direct that the proper tax be assessed upon all cotton, of whatever grade.

Very respectfully,
THOMAS HARLAND,
Deputy Commissioner.

To JAMES READY, Esq., Assessor First District, New-Orleans, La.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
WASHINGTON, March 27, 1867.

SIR: I reply to yours of the 19th instant, that amounts paid for insurance should not be allowed as a reduction in estimating the amount of taxable income except where it is properly an expense of business.

Very respectfully,
THOMAS HARLAN,
Deputy Commissioner.

DAVID BRADEN, Assessor, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Toledo Road.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The annual report of the Directors of the Chicago and Toledo Railroad Company showed the net earnings of the Company to be a fraction short of 18 per cent. per annum for the previous year, and for the past six months of the present fiscal year the Directors made a dividend of 8 per cent., and for the last six months one of 6 per cent. This concern has been for the past two or three years a sort of close corporation, and not until this morning has its weekly or monthly earning been made public.

The Tribune gentleman has now apparently access to its books and accounts. Will he be kind enough to inform its stockholders of its gross earnings and expenses for the six months ending the 1st October last, when the present managers, who were then large owners of the stock, declared the semi-annual dividend of 8 per cent? Trade continues dull and prices unchanged. Holders express renewed confidence as to the immediate future, all concurring in the opinion that the stock is now too small to leave any probability of a chance for lower prices, and their present rates will be fully maintained. It is believed the stock on this market, outside of consumers' hands, is now reduced to 5,000 bales, and that the number of bales held by country dealers will not exceed 1,500 to 2,000."

MISCELLANEOUS.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—THE TREASURER of the Exempt Firemen's Benevolent Fund of the City of New-York, takes great pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of $5,372 83, from Albert J. Delatour Esq., Treasurer of the Firemen's Ball Committee, being the net proceeds of the thirty-eighth annual ball, given at the Academy of Music on the evening of Feb. 28, 1867.
JOHN S. GILES, Treasurer.

The Treasurer takes this occasion to renew the expression of his regard to the gentlemen composing the members of that organization, of which Hon. C. Godfrey Gunther is President, and James F. Wenman, Esq., Secretary; and also in the name of the widows and orphan children, and of the sick and disabled firemen in the Old Volunteer Fire Department of this City, to tender to the committee and the patrons of the ball his unfeigned thanks and heartfelt gratification at the confidence still manifested toward an institution which, although the voluntary working branch of it has ceased to exist, still numbers among its friends many ardent and warm supporters, who are not forgetful of the benefits arising to the City from an organization, the services and sacrifices of whose members their fellow-citizens cherish the recollection of, as being at one time the right arm of our City Government, in saving life and property in the extinguishment of fires, and in preserving large portions of our City from being devastated by the devouring element. For more than a century the Old Fire Department commanded, not only the respect, but the admiration of our citizens, and was, for efficiency, discipline and superiority, a model institution for the whole world. And the liberal manner in which the annual balls of the Fire Department Fund are sustained and patronized furnish additional proof, if any were required, that our citizens, notwithstanding all that may be said to the contrary, look back upon the past efforts and exertions of its members with feelings of undiminished respect and confidence. Was not such an institution worth preserving? It is pleasant to bring to our recollection the calm and peaceful acquiescence with which the old Volunteer Force submitted to the law creating the Paid Department, and the quiet and orderly manner of their disbandment, which was in perfect accord with the high character of the men who had for years made great personal sacrifices of health and life itself, in behalf of their fellow-citizens. The charitable institution connected with that organization still dispenses its benefactions to the widow and orphan, and extends its aid to the sick and disabled firemen; and the sum realized from the last annual ball will materially aid the Trustees in their efforts to perpetuate the blessings of their old and inestimable charity.

Beef cattle are in excellent request, and fat ones sell quickly at high figures. The supply of such beef cattle as are really fit for good beef is not equal to the requirements of the trade. The number of first quality of cattle is always comparatively small at this season of the year, and beeves of this stamp are now selling for 16c.@17c. ℔ lb. net weight. Extras, of which there were not more than half a dozen for the week, sell for 18c.@18½c. ℔ lb. The lowest grades of beef cattle sell for 12c.@13c. ℔ lb. net weight. Common cattle, 14c.@15c. ℔ lb. Fat sheep are in limited supply, and sell readily at 8c.@9c.@10c. ℔ lb., live, gross weight. Most of the sheep received at the markets are of inferior quality. Only a few droves in all the receipts for the week are such sheep as farmers would slaughter for their own tables. A few flocks of shorn sheep have been received, which were sold for about 7c.@8c. ℔ lb. live weight. The poor droves sell for about 6c.@7c. ℔ lb. The poorest sheep are weighed with good ones. If sold separately many of them would not bring more than 5c. ℔ lb. live weight.

The Proposition for American Mediation in Mexico—A Policy Wanted.

A proposition for mediation between the belligerents in Mexico was recently made by Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON before the Senate in Executive Session. According to such accounts as we have, it was vigorously opposed, and on Thursday last was withdrawn.

It was shamefully remiss in Congress, at its late session, to take no notice of the horrible state of things in Mexico. By menace and argument we had expelled the French army and broken down the intervention. We had practically assumed the right of regulating the affairs of Mexico, guarding her interests and sustaining her republican institutions. We had rendered ourselves liable to war, on her account, with the foremost military nation of the world. We had, by the arrest of ORTEGA and the restraint of SANTA ANNA, done something in the way of suppressing factious leaders. In fact, we had carried our interference, or our guardianship, so far, without any remonstrance from the Mexicans or from foreign Powers, that there seemed no limit to our action except our own will.

We stopped short, however, just at the worst time—just at the most critical and perilous moment for Mexico. We stopped short with abolishing one form of government, and without doing anything to establish another. We upset the French plans for reducing Mexico to order, and did nothing in the way of setting up order under any other authority. If our efforts in behalf of Mexico began when she was in war, they ended when she was in anarchy, and even more hopeless anarchy than ever before.

There is no doubt as to the duties that remained for our Government after the expulsion of the French. After notifying MAXIMILIAN to leave the country, or at least to cease making war upon it, we had positive duties toward JUAREZ and the Republic. It was imperative upon us to give effective assistance in the erection and consolidation of the Republican system. If the foreigners had left everything in confusion and ruin, it was but fit and in keeping with what we had already done that we should lend a hand in rebuilding the civil order. If moral aid promised to be as successful against faction as it had been against intervention, all our moral power should have been directly and instantly brought to bear. If diplomacy had any resources, they should have been promptly put forth to their full extent. If the Republican Government rising from its ruins needed a pecuniary guarantee for which proper security could have been given, that also it was in our province, as it was our interest to furnish. And even if a corps of American troops were required to put a stop to the horrors of anarchy and secure the establishment of a vigorous Republic, our Government would have been justified in dispatching them to Mexican soil.

That one or another of these means would have been successful in putting an end to the greatest scandal of the nineteenth century—a scandal for which we shall not be held entirely irresponsible—is quite certain. That without our moral or material assistance Mexico will ever be other than she has been during the last half century, is not within the range even of the most sanguine hope. Our correspondence and other information from time to time give too certain proof that even the exit of MAXIMILIAN will not secure the suppression of faction and fighting, or the supremacy of the Constitution and its legitimate administrators. Half a dozen of the most prominent Mexican leaders are ready, even after the Empire and Emperor have disappeared, to continue the war against JUAREZ in behalf of the Church and themselves. In the Republican camp itself there are dissension, disaffection and turbulence; and without mentioning the Imperialist officers, we have no doubt that every Liberal General now fighting for JUAREZ has a pronunciamiento in his pocket ready to be stuck up on the walls of the capital as soon as it shall be taken. In fact, every sign will fail if the expulsion of the foreign usurper do not furnish the opportunity for twenty domestic usurpers to renew the scenes of uproar which rise like the cactus on Mexican soil.

And yet, though time has demonstrated that Republican order or political regeneration cannot be brought about by the Mexicans themselves, we do not believe that these things are impossible of accomplishment, or even difficult. By the help of a strong and friendly hand, this wretched Mexico may be rescued. Not such assistance as the French pretended to give when they overthrew the Republic, for that was the assistance of an enemy, and left the nation worse than it was found, but such aid as one Republic, all powerful and generous, may offer to another in its hour of distress, and which, by raising one, elevates and glorifies both. It must be remembered that, after all, the factious element of the Mexican population is comparatively small in numbers. The Indian element, which comprises seven-eighths of the whole nation, is, in the main, of a peaceful character, and would easily be kept in order. The commercial classes are, of course, desirous for the establishment of order above all things, as is strikingly proven by the way they have adhered to MAXIMILIAN, notwithstanding his obnoxious politics. The incurably turbulent are really but a few thousand, who were bred to turbulence under the uncertain state of things that succeeded the revolution, and a score or two of such ambitious leaders as are ever ready in every country to take advantage of opportunities. Exterminate these, or put them under such restraints as a strong Government can easily devise and enforce, and there is every reason to believe that Mexico would quickly take her place by our side as a Republic worthy of such companionship.

It is deeply to be regretted, if it be true, that the Senate gave an inhospitable reception to REVERDY JOHNSON's proposition in behalf of the Republic of Mexico.

Evil Counsel.

Few more mischievous propositions have appeared since the enactment of the Reconstruction Law than that to which Gov. JENKINS, of Georgia, lends the weight of his office. It is bad enough that the attention of the Southern people is diverted from the task before them by promises of relief through the intervention of the Supreme Court. For that method of seeking succor, there is, no doubt, a clear constitutional justification; though the propriety of resorting to it is, in our judgment, more than questionable. But Gov. JENKINS proceeds much further. Not content with encouraging expectations of a judicial decision adverse to the constitutionality of the law, he advises the people of Georgia—should judicial help not be rendered—to allow the plans of Congress to go by default. In other words, if the Supreme Court come not in season to the deliverance of the malcontents, he recommends that the people decline to avail themselves of the reconstruction provisions of the law, and so necessitate the continuance of military rule until a conflict shall be produced between the Courts and Congress. Virtually, it is a recommendation to nullify the law, so far as nullification may be within the power of the South.

The Charleston Mercury states the case pointedly, and with a hearty indorsation. In South Carolina, the Mercury regretfully admits, the proposal is impracticable, because the white population, being a minority, will be unable to prevent the call of a Convention. But in Georgia, and wherever the whites form the majority, the Mercury hopes that Gov. JENKINS' idea will be acted upon; in which event the preliminary step to a Convention will be defeated at the polls. Here is the reasoning on the subject:

> "The Supreme Court may reject the applications now being made to take cognizance of the act; and may compel a resort to the District Courts to get up the case; and consider it only on an appeal from these Courts. This course will postpone the consideration of the case to its next sitting. In the meantime the Military act will be enforced. To head this policy, some of the Southern States ought to refuse to enforce it, by going into a convention; and standing out against it, force the final decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on the constitutionality of the Military act. We hope that if the application now pending before that Court shall fail—that this will be the course of the State of Georgia."

A pretty programme! Impede the law, if possible, at the outset, with the aid of the Supreme Court. That failing, refuse to comply with the provisions of the law in respect of electing delegates to the prescribed Convention, in order that the delay in obtaining a judicial decision may be counterbalanced by delay in the business of reorganization. And, meanwhile, let military rule be continued.

It is evident that the politicians and the newspapers favorable to this course fail to appreciate the mildness and forbearance which have thus far characterized the conduct of the military government. They have been treated so courteously and tenderly, with so decided a disposition to employ no more harshness than may be essential to the maintenance of an almost passive authority, that they are quite willing to witness a prolongation of the system. Of actual military rule they have hardly yet tasted, except at New-Orleans, and there Gen. SHERIDAN's proceedings have left no room for a misapprehension of the power that may be exercised under the law. It should be remembered, however, that Gen. SICKLES and other commanders have spoken and acted with extreme mildness and consideration, under an assurance that the voluntary proceedings of the people will render more stringent authority unnecessary. The profession of a resolve to comply with the requirements of the law has, in a degree, disarmed Federal authority, because conveying a belief that the object of Congress will be attained quietly and without delay. Let these professions of compliance and good faith be belied by the adoption of the plan proposed by Gov. JENKINS and approved by the Charleston Mercury, and the whole case will be changed. The soft glove will be removed from the iron hand of the soldier, and they who now talk pleasantly of military rule will be the first to complain of its severity. To cherish delusions upon this head is to invite difficulty and disaster. For if the law as it now is prove unequal to the emergency, as Congress understands it, there is a moral certainty that it will be altered—and altered for the worse, so far as the South is concerned—long before the plans of the obstructives bring forth fruit. Of all follies under the sun, none is greater than that which would precipitate a conflict of authority between the unreconstructed States and Congress. The men who desire it, and are laboring to produce it, are enemies of the South and of the Union.

The Conservative Reaction in the Senate.

The Washington correspondent of the Anti-Slavery Standard continues to furnish all the information or conjectures that come within his reach as to the conciliatory and conservative temper that has ruled or modified the action of the Senate during the extra session. He repeats and enlarges upon his former allegations as to the collusion between a number of Senators and the Executive in the matter of appointments. But, as a prelude to this additional exposé, the correspondent recurs with zealous minuteness to certain suspicious proceedings both in the House and the Senate previous to the adjournment, which showed that the bartering for offices had, then, begun in earnest. A Western Senator, described as "a prominent Radical," sent a friend who had access to the White House "to tell the President that he would oppose a Summer session of Congress, provided he received certain offices." The Senator, although failing to secure the offices he desired, stood faithfully to his part of the compact, and "most strenuously opposed a Summer session."

A member of the House, Gen. GARFIELD of Ohio, it seems, did a more successful stroke of business. The correspondent assures us that "he got his pay." And for this the reason is hesitatingly presented, that "perhaps the General was considered worth more for future purposes than the Judge." What these purposes were is set forth at length in the portion of the letter which we quote in another column. Gen. GARFIELD worked with the Executive not merely in the matter of opposing a Summer session, but in the matter of impeachment as well. And all this was done to obtain an appointment for a friend to "a second-class Post-office."

But the barterers for official places in the Senate are, it appears, after all, the most numerous as well as the most daring. They include such Senators as CAMERON, in "combination with BUCKALEW, COWAN," &c., who invaded in succession "THADDEUS STEVENS', KOONTZ's, Judge KELLEY's and COVODE's districts," and made them special subjects for Senatorial trading. The New-York Senators are equally implicated with Mr. CAMERON. So, likewise, are Senators MORTON and SHERMAN, and, strange to say, "even Gov. YATES is not free from censure." Nay, still more strange and appalling is it to find that Mr. WADE voted for Gen. STEEDMAN's confirmation.

The main, if not the only advantage of reproducing or giving emphasis to the wild but earnest declamations of this Washington writer, is to be found in the fact that he bluntly alleges, in public, what more reticent and influential Radicals present in private as a reason for the conservative bearing of the majority of the Senate during the extra session. It is the alarm of the extreme Radicals lest there should be an approach to conciliation between the Senate and the Executive, that gives at once the inspiration and the point to these general charges of bartering for office. It is the dread that temperance of speech on both sides, combined with reflection and deliberative judgment, should ultimately bring the several branches of the Government into harmony, that disturbs the rest of the sectional agitators. Messrs. STEVENS, KELLEY, SUMNER, CHANDLER and their familiars see that their final and only chance of delaying reconstruction, of carrying out a policy of confiscation, and of making sectionalism permanently dominant, lies in their power to render any approach to conciliation between Congress and the President impossible. Whenever, therefore, there comes about a compromise between the two, even on the question of a five-hundred-dollar Post-office appointment, it is deemed policy to assail it as an act of bartering and corruption.

How far this new style of impeachment will carry weight with the more fanatical and vengeful class it is not perhaps for us to conjecture. But it is clear that the invention has too much method and persistence in it to be the mere work of the nameless correspondent of a weekly sheet. The same sort of indiscriminate charges have been uttered, though less distinctly, in other Radical quarters. In the inner circles of the extreme party they are known to have been canvassed as the latest practicable device for perpetuating the dominance of sectional hate. The sober judgment of the country, however, cannot be deceived by partisan projects as shallow as they are mischievous. With the final passage of the Reconstruction Act, and the supplementary provisions for its enforcement, every serious barrier toward a fair and honorable compromise between Congress and the Executive was broken down. Moderate Representatives and Senators alike perceived this. The Executive, no doubt, saw the bearings of his own position in the same light. The result is not the alleged bartering for office, but visibly an approach—slow and gradual though it may be—to harmony between the two branches of the Government.

The Latest from the War Oracle—Prussia and Europe.

For eighteen, odd, months Prussia has been the central political figure in Europe. Neither France, with her demonstrative patronage, alternately, of Italy and Austria, nor Russia, with her renewed mutterings on the Eastern question, have done more than barely keep their names, their influence and their position in any conspicuous way before the world. BISMARCK has been the real lion for one political season. He promises to be the same for another, if there is any credit to be attached to the latest reports of the war feeling in Berlin. The telegram that came by the cable yesterday afternoon, characterizing the Speech of King WILLIAM at the closing of his Parliament, will be found on examination to be either indefinite enough or warlike enough to account for the excitement which it caused yesterday among a class of operators here. It is surely indefinite enough to say that the speech has created distrust "throughout Germany." And yet, there is warlike portent in the reflection that, aside from a renewal of actual war, both Northern and Southern Germany already know the worst either has to expect at the hands of the dominant Power. The report of the prevailing distrust, moreover, is amplified, indirectly, by a statement of the decline on the Paris Bourse. Still, every such report must be received with allowance. Who is it that settles summarily, in this dispatch, for us and for the world outside of Germany, the question of the temper which the latest Prussian manifesto has instantaneously evoked? It takes two to make a quarrel of any sort. France is most unlikely to go to war, until she is prepared, and finds, herself, instead of letting another find, the pretext and the subject for a quarrel. Not a few Germans here, of political experience and sagacity, profess to see in all the recent oracular utterances of BISMARCK and his master significant tokens of a renewed conflict. But there is a steady and a strong temptation to create a warlike fever in the interest of financial jobbers, and a holiday is always convenient for their special business.

The License Law—Proposed Amendment.

We understand that the parties interested at Albany have reached a compromise upon the license business, and that it is agreed to report amendments which change the time of closing places where liquor is sold to 1 o'clock A. M., and of opening to 4 o'clock. It is also agreed that licenses for the sale of ale and beer only shall be granted for not less than $100 per annum, and not more than $250, the rates to be determined by the Board of Excise. First-class hotels and restaurants are to pay $500. On Saturdays all places are to be closed at midnight, but may open again at 4 o'clock on Monday morning, of course remaining closed through Sunday. The reduction in the price of the license is doubtless the fruit of agitation on the part of the lager-lovers of our people.

It has been hinted, among those who ought to know, that a great change has come over the convictions of our law-makers upon the subject of liquor licenses, and rumors are heard of great things to be done in the future; in fact, they amount to a statement that the Constitutional Convention will take up the subject and establish by actual law the now somewhat doubted fact that a man's eating and drinking is a matter that concerns himself only. We do not vouch for the truth of the rumor; there is nothing men love so much as power, and if they cannot hold the helm of a nation, nor of a State, nor of a city, nor of a ward, nor of a school district, they are fain to take a chance at their next-door neighbor and show him that there is a power in the land to which he must bend or break.

Sumptuary laws seem now to be a favorite field for experiment in more than one State, and it is not beyond reason to believe that we may ultimately return to the good old Connecticut days, when a man was mulcted in a smart fine for kissing his wife on Sunday, unless the radical power of the people—through State Conventions or other popular expressions of their will—shall step in to save us from the vagaries of the hour.

MINOR TOPICS.

The managers of the great Cable Telegraph have been driven to a practical acknowledgment of the old saying that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. The average receipts of the Company have been about $5,500 daily, though they have run up to $9,500. But on account of the miserable condition of the lines across Newfoundland, the public have been impatient sufferers under frequent delays, and the Company estimate that they have lost already more than $150,000. Therefore, they have concluded to do what they should have done at first, and are manufacturing another submarine cable to connect the end of the oceanic cable at Heart's Content with the Provincial and American lines at Sydney, Cape Breton and Port Hood. This will be done by running a land line about 63 miles down the coast from Heart's Content to Placentia, along a good road, with every facility for construction and repair, and thence by submarine course to Sydney, touching at the Island of St. Pierre, a small French fishing station, to which, in all probability, a French trans-oceanic line will hereafter run. From Sydney to Port Hood the Provincial lines will take the connection, and from there our efficient Western Union Company will bring it to New-York. Thus will be avoided the dreary wastes of Newfoundland, and the whole telegraphic line, which has now become a daily necessity to the commerce of England and America, will be either protected beneath the waves, or when on land, within the constant sight and care of its operators.

Democratic candidates in local contests are ordinarily plentiful as blackberries. In connection with the Constitutional Convention, however, an unusual number of declensions on the part of Democratic nominees are noted by the Newburgh Journal and others. Three reasons are assigned by the Journal: One, a conviction that nothing can prevent a Republican victory; another, the quarrel of cliques; the third, "a disposition on the part of leaders not to participate in the Convention, with a view to an unembarrassed fight against the proposed amendments." The American theory of Government suffers, when the revision of our organic law is degraded to the partisan level of an election for town officers.

It seems impossible to find anything too sacred or too well protected by law to tempt the avaricious hand of some men. To steal the pennies from a dead man's eyes has for centuries been a proverbial expression of degraded and miserly meanness. But how venial and trivial is even the sacrilege of desecrating the tomb for buried ornaments and jewels, compared with the horror of robbing from their last resting places the lifeless bodies themselves—the forms once loved, still honored, and laid away with pious care. The people of Chicago are indignant and excited over the capture of a gang of resurrectionists, having in their possession five human bodies, together with the tools by which they accomplished their unholy work. These men were offered ten dollars each for "subjects" by professors of surgical science, for the prosecution of their studies. The necessity of dissection as a means of learning no one can doubt, but the law provides that those whose bodies, by the stress of circumstances or from crime, become the property of the State, shall be given up for such purposes. There can be no excuse for the hardness and cruelty which allow scientific men to inspire such wanton invasion of the holiest sentiments of a community.

The World is nothing if not critical. Yesterday morning, in some pointed allusions to the mutual literary relations subsisting between Mr. H. C. CAREY, the political economist of Philadelphia, and M. FREDERIC BASTIAT, author of the Harmonies Economiques, it rates somewhat severely the writer of an article in the Philadelphia Press who had stated that "all that was good in M. BASTIAT's book had been original in Mr. CAREY's mind, and had been published by him years before the adroit Frenchman seized, diluted and passed them off for his own." The ungrammatical style of the statement the World notices by saying that "the random assertions of a writer who * * * proves his ignorance of the English language are not worth disputing." And gives as a reason for not questioning some of the extravagantly eulogistic remarks of the Press upon the great Protectionist, that "it is rather from incapacity to apprehend the writer's meaning than from a recollection of the free-trade doctrines with which Mr. CAREY, in his earlier writings, dispensed the rest of the world from the trouble of refuting the contrary doctrines taught in his later writings!" Whatever may be the comparative merits of Mr. CAREY and M. BASTIAT, the Press and the World have no cause for mutual jealousy on the ground of superiority in grammar.

The withdrawal of the steamship Havana, which had been prepared for service with special reference to the Paris Exposition, is one of many circumstances that indicate a falling off in European travel. The diminutive passenger list of the Great Eastern is another illustration of the same fact. In the latter case the Journal of Commerce seeks an explanation in the failure of the managers of the big steamship to give the necessary publicity to their arrangements. There may be a certain degree of force in the omission mentioned, since constant and widely diffused advertising is essential to the prosperity even of established lines. But the main cause must be sought in the comparatively small amount of travel hence to the Old World. The rush on which steamship agents calculated has not come, as is abundantly proved by the absence of crowding in the most popular lines, and the absolute scarcity of passengers in others. Our people are not crazy about trips to Europe this season, and according to present appearances the amount of travel will actually be less than in average years.

A legal holiday in England means something in which the whole people join, and a day whereon all business men cease from their labors. In America, and particularly in Gotham, it means something—or nothing—according to the will of the divers individuals composing the population thereof. Yesterday was Good Friday. Out of respect to the Christian world, (supposed to be deeply interested in the day,) some of the public institutions were closed, and among them the sundry Boards for the sale of gold and stocks. Notwithstanding the corporate fines of these bodies for transactions of business on holidays, the precincts of New-street and Broad-street were resonant with that excited gibberish understood only by the initiated. The warlike rumors from Prussia and the demand for gold to cover remitted cotton bills, made quite an excitement in the precious metal, and, although there were no deliveries of stock, the operators of railway shares managed to get up something of a buzz on the strength of reports and sayings from Albany. So that while Episcopal England sent not even the shadow of a market quotation, the effervescent Gothamites contrived to keep their pot boiling with its own ingredients.

There is some danger of forgetting the movement for alleviating the distress and privation of the Southern people. We are reminded to touch again the friendly elbow of New-York by seeing what others are doing. In Hartford, Conn., a general meeting of the clergy of all denominations, supported by the most prominent and well-known laymen of their churches, was held a few days since to consider the topic. They passed resolutions affirming it to be a Christian duty to succor their poverty-pressed brethren of the South, and measures were set on foot to secure such pecuniary aid as that wealthy little city can afford. In Pittsburgh, Penn., a subscription was also opened at one of the newspaper offices, and in two days the aggregate of small donations reached nearly $2,000. That is the way to do it. Let the rich give much, but let those who are not rich give their mites. None profits more by kindness than he who practices it.

AMUSEMENTS.

Italian Opera.

The "Star of the North" will be given for the last time this season at the Academy matinee to-day. And between that and Thursday next Mr. MARETZEK will present some of the more favorable works performed during the present subscription series. On Thursday he announces by a card to be seen elsewhere, the debut of a new prima donna is to take place. Senora PERALTA, the artist named, is a Mexican by birth, and has been singing all Winter in Havana. Her first appearance is to be made as Amina in "La Sonnambula."

Wallack's Theatre.

At Wallack's, to-night, Miss MADELINE HENRIQUES takes leave of the stage and retires to private life. Her professional career has been brief, but crowned with abundant success. Though not an actress of the highest powers in the more elevated range of artistic effort, in her peculiar line of characters she has had few superiors. She has been a very great favorite with the best portion of our theatre-going public, and her popularity has never been greater than it is at the moment she selects for leaving the profession. Undoubtedly her character as a woman, her demeanor as a lady and her charms of person and manner have contributed largely to make her the universal favorite she has become; nevertheless, it is as an actress that she has come before the public, and the stage has a right to the credit and popularity she has won for it, as well as for herself. She will have none but well-wishes in the new sphere for which, with womanly instinct, she exchanges the public career she has pursued with such deserved success.

FROM NEW-YORK TO JERUSALEM.—Rev. J. HYATT SMITH will lecture on this theme at Cooper Institute on the evening of the 25th inst. Mr. SMITH lectures without notes, and in that pleasant colloquial style which never fails to secure the attention of an audience. All the interesting features of the trip from this City to Jerusalem are detailed in a graphic manner, and with a happy blending of the instructive, the humorous and the pathetic. Those who have heard his discourse are enthusiastic in its praise.

STUDIO RECEPTIONS.—The Saturday afternoon receptions at the Tenth-street Studio Building and at the Dodworth Building on Fifth-avenue, will come to a close this afternoon. The series has been very pleasant to the public and to the artists, and we trust it will be renewed another season.

WASHINGTON.

AFFAIRS AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 19.

THE RECONSTRUCTION INJUNCTION CASES.

It is plainly evident that the prompt action of the Attorney-General in the Georgia and Mississippi injunction cases, understood to be with the advice and consent of the President, though nothing beyond the lawful duty of the law-officer of the Government, is nevertheless exerting a very favorable influence upon people who have been disposed to doubt the sincerity of the President's expressed intentions to enforce the reconstruction acts of Congress. Men of extreme Radical views admit the force of this action, and whatever be its motive it is certainly having a strong effect for good.

EVENING SESSION OF THE SENATE.

The Senate is holding a night session this evening, for the purpose of disposing of several strongly-contested nominations in order to be able to adjourn to-morrow, which they will undoubtedly do. The Cincinnati Postmastership will be settled to-morrow, after a more than six months' strife. The name of Judge WARREN was sent in to-day and promptly rejected. To-morrow the name of CALVIN THOMAS, Republican, will be sent in, and he will undoubtedly be confirmed.

TOUR OF SENATOR WILSON.

Senator WILSON leaves here to-morrow morning on his Southern political trip. He makes his first speech to-morrow afternoon at Orange Court-house. He will extend his tour as far as Jackson, Miss., and perhaps to New-Orleans.

THE AUSTRIAN MISSION.

The Senate to-day disposed of the Austrian mission for this session, according to previous expectation—Mr. RAYMOND's nomination being laid on the table by a vote of 26 yeas to 8 nays—nays being all Republicans but one, and the Democrats and Johnson Senators all voting in the affirmative. This action, the Senate hopes, will result in retaining Mr. MOTLEY, as the nomination of Mr. RAYMOND goes over probably until December, but it is understood to-night that the President regards the position as vacant, and that he will withdraw Mr. RAYMOND's name on the adjournment of the Senate, and immediately make another appointment.

NOMINATIONS BEFORE THE SENATE.

Gen. LEFEVER, of Ohio, was to-day nominated and rejected for the Governorship of Washington Territory. Yesterday DE LANO, the first choice of the President, was similarly served, and to-morrow Judge GEO. C. HOUGH or some other prominent Western man will be sent in.

There is a new deal in the Ninth New-York District. The name of WM. ALLEN, who was nominated for Assessor last week in place of HOMER FRANKLIN, removed, has been withdrawn, and Mr. S. H. GAY was sent in for the position.

To the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 19.

METER FOR DISTILLERIES.

The following special circular, announcing the adoption of a meter for distilleries, was to-day issued from the Office of Internal Revenue:

> Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of the Treasury has adopted and prescribed for use in distilleries a metre invented by Mr. ISAAC P. TICE, of New-York, and that regulations for the introduction of such meter will be issued in a few days. Each Collector will notify every distiller who applies to make payment for the special tax for the year ending May 1, 1868, that he will not be allowed to continue in operation after the 15th day of May, unless he shall before that time have made application for a meter, and accompanied his application with adequate security for the payment of the necessary expense, which will probably vary, according to the size of the distillery, from $600 to $1,500.
> (Signed) E. A. ROLLINS, Commissioner.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.

Two anonymous letters were received at the Treasury Department this morning containing money, which was appropriated to the Conscience Fund. The first inclosed $3 50 forwarded by a former private in the United States Army, and which had been illegally taken by him. The second sum, $30, was due the Government for drawback duties, and is, the writer says, not conscience money, nor was any attempt made to defraud the Government.

RECEIPTS FROM CUSTOMS.

The following is a statement of the receipts for customs from April 7 to 13, inclusive: Boston, $319,711 63; New-York, $2,180,376 85; Philadelphia, $204,452 01; Baltimore, $71,096 73; New-Orleans, April 1 to 6, $86,431 07; San Francisco, March 9 to 16, $112,701 62. Total, $2,974,769 91. This statement shows a decrease in the receipts since the last exhibit at all ports excepting Baltimore, where there has been an increase of about $40,000; at New-York the decrease since the last statement amounts to $238,000.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

Senator WILSON will leave Washington to-morrow morning on his Southern speaking tour.

Execution of Negro Murderers at Georgia

SAVANNAH, Ga., Friday, April 19.

Two negroes were hung at 5 o'clock this morning, in the Jail, for the murder of Mr. SECCINGER, in January.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Friday, April 19.

Senator WILSON has returned to his seat in the Senate.

Mr. HENDERSON offered a resolution that there be printed for the use of the Senate two thousand copies of the report of the Secretary of the Interior, giving information of the number, location, &c., of the various tribes, and five hundred extra copies for the use of the Department.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Printing.

On motion of Mr. WADE the Senate went into Executive Session.

The doors being temporarily opened, Mr. ANTHONY offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee consisting of two members be appointed to wait upon the President of the United States, and inform him that the Senate has passed a resolution to close its present session, by an adjournment on Saturday at 1 o'clock P. M., and that unless he may have some further communications to make, the Senate will, at the time named, adjourn without day.

The resolution was agreed to.

The Chair appointed Messrs. FESSENDEN and JOHNSON as the Committee.

The Senate then resumed its Executive Session.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANSWER TO THE SENATE.

At a subsequent stage of the proceedings, Mr. ANTHONY, from the above-named Committee, reported that they had performed the duty assigned to them, and that the President had requested them to inform the Senate that he would to-day make some further Executive communications, but that at present he knew no reason why the Senate should not adjourn at the time fixed by the resolution of the 18th inst. The Senate took a recess from 5 until 7:30 o'clock.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

The Revolutionists and the Senate.

Washington Correspondence of the Anti-Slavery Standard.

The NEW-YORK TIMES gives undue prominence to my last letter sent from here. That it should do so may fairly be set down as proof of the justice of the strictures it contains. True to its instincts, the TIMES congratulates itself that my letter is an evidence of the Conservative reaction in the Senate. Nothing so respectable even as our conservation can be set down to the credit of the Radical traders in patronage. Only a mere greed for barter and sale; the merest dregs of corrupt intent is at the bottom of their action. I am not writing for the sake of rhetoric—not ranting mere fustian—when I say that the majority of the nominations sent in since the present extraordinary session began, have been the result of "a trade" between the Executive and Senators. Take an example. One Western Senator, prominent as a Radical, sent an Illinois politician here, supposed to be in good standing at the White House, to tell the President that he would oppose a Summer session of Congress, provided he received certain offices. The Senatorial barterer did not get the offices, but did most strenuously oppose the proposed Summer session. Gen. GARFIELD, of Ohio, was smarter than the Senator, for he got his pay. Perhaps the General was considered worth more for future purposes than the Judge. After the adjournment, as the story goes, the Ohio Representative got Gen. GORDON GRANGER to represent to the President that he, GARFIELD, so acted as to materially aid the defeat of the Summer session movement as first proposed by Gen. SCHENCK. A certain Post-office was the reward wanted for this service, and Gen. GARFIELD's man was nominated and confirmed. The character of the service for which a Post-office was considered a fair reward ought to be known. When, on Monday preceding adjournment, it became evident that the advice of high officials against an adjournment without day was having its effect in the House, Gen. SCHENCK offered a resolution providing for four days between the day to be fixed and the regular time for reassembling, on which Congress could meet and adjourn over, if no cause demanding a session had in the meantime arisen. Gen. GARFIELD voted and worked against the demand for the previous question, and when that was sustained left the hall, thus dodging the final vote.

That was one way of sustaining the President; another was when, on the presentation by SIDNEY CLARKE, of Kansas, of a preamble and resolution setting forth the action of the House on the impeachment question, and requesting the Judiciary Committee to report at the reassembling of Congress in July, GARFIELD killed the preamble by a cowardly criticism on its language, as committing the House to the impeachment of the President. There were other services, as for instance the very coarse attack made by the General on THADDEUS STEVENS during the debate on the original Military Bill. But the illustrations I have given are surely sufficient to entitle the Representative to as much "bread and butter" as a second-class Post-office will obtain for an ally.

Among the traders SIMEON CAMERON is conspicuous. He has entered into combination with BUCKALEW, COWAN, RANDALL, BOYER & Co. The latter do the out-door business—attend to the White House and Departments, while CAMERON and BUCKALEW run the Senate. Judge KELLEY'S, THADDEUS STEVENS', KOONTZ'S and COVODE'S districts have been the especial subjects for Senatorial trading. Let me mention another illustration of CAMERON'S management. Everybody here knows that ISAAC NEWTON, Commissioner of Agriculture, is uncommonly incompetent for his position. With all who support him it is a question only, not of competency, but of how much they can secure from his Department for their support. I am not in any of the "rings" for or against NEWTON. The President has nominated Col. CAPRON, of Illinois, who is very generally pronounced fit for the place, a good soldier and a reliable Republican. CAMERON is Chairman of Committee on Agriculture. Only four members are present. CATTEL, of New-Jersey, uniting with CAMERON, agreed not to report on the nomination, so it is killed. NEWTON made a great many promises of places and seeds to accomplish this.

The New-York Senators are in the trading ring. The Brooklyn offices have been the great bone of contention. CONKLING wanted the Post-office for a State Senator who voted for him; MORGAN wanted the Assessorship for the Third District for another who voted for him. Let us see how this works. Gen. ROBERTS was nominated by the President for the Post-office of the City of Churches. I am assured by prominent Radicals that ROBERTS has always been an Anti-Slavery man, and was an excellent soldier. Yet he is rejected because of the trade agreed upon. The two Brooklyn representatives, or the Johnson cliques, were to have the balance of the offices, provided the Senators go; the two they desired. Was I not correct in declaring that the rule was, "so much for so much," and that no principle governed either nomination or confirmation?

Morton of Indiana is another prominent trader. The list of his barters would fill a column. He was especially active in support of both ROUSSEAU and MEREDITH. Support of the latter was quite in keeping, since it is a well understood fact in Indiana politics that MEREDITH has always had the support of the Morton influence in his attacks on GEORGE W. JULIAN, not even excepting his brutal assault on him by ruffians hired for the purpose.

Gov. YATES is not free from censure, and even BEN WADE voted for STEEDMAN'S confirmation. This latter was engineered by SHERMAN, FESSENDEN and SPRAGUE, and doubtless an understanding was arrived at for support of Presidential aspirations by such Conservative Republicans as CHASE and FESSENDEN. The former will never make the Chief-Justice he is capable of being while the Presidential bee buzzes under his bonnet. He ought to get rid thereof at an early date—for nothing is more settled in the people's mind than that he cannot be removed from that bench.

SHERMAN takes care of his own with great assiduity. I am informed that some eighteen members of the Sherman-Ewing families are in office. This is nepotism on a large scale. CHARLES SHERMAN, the Senator's brother, is United States Judge of the Northern District of Ohio. His son, HENRY, is a deputy clerk therein. Gen. THOMAS EWING, Jr., the Senator's brother-in-law, is a lawyer here. He gets a good deal of profitable business thrown in his way by the connection. Gen. HUGH EWING, his brother, is minister to the Hague. His fitness for the position is demonstrated by his chronic condition of intemperance. CHARLES EWING, another brother, has a commission in the army. HAMPTON B. DENMAN, a brother-in-law, is Superintendent of Indian Affairs for Nebraska, Dakotah and Montana. The Senator himself is reported to be a member of the firm of JAY COOKE & Co. The importance, therefore, of being Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee is very easily to be seen. FESSENDEN has about as good a thing of it as any Senator. He is always ready to defend MCCULLOCH, and is known to be opposed to impeachment, much preferring to have ANDREW JOHNSON remain where he is until the term expires. He can get all he wants at the Departments.

Quarantine—A New Bill.

Last year the Board of Health was subjected to great inconvenience and expense in being thwarted by the citizens of Staten Island in its attempts to secure a suitable place for quarantining well persons who arrived at this port on board of vessels which contained other persons affected with infectious diseases. The law, as it then stood, required that all persons subject to quarantine restrictions should be detained on board of hospital ships, riding at anchor in the Lower Bay. This was subjecting healthier persons to a degree of inconvenience and harshness well calculated to invite disease, and for which there was no necessity. The Board therefore took possession of Seguine's Point, but after expending $18,000 in preparing a "convalescent camp" for the accommodation of persons in quarantine, the citizens of Staten Island succeeded in driving them away by legal process, and the floating hospitals were again resorted to. This harshness of our Quarantine Law, which detained all passengers on board of hospital ships, close and illy ventilated, for forty days, subject to the caprice of wind, waves and weather, will be remedied this season. The new Quarantine Bill, which has just passed the Senate, authorizes the Board of Health to erect suitable buildings on the West Bank for the detention of passengers in good health arriving in infected vessels. The West Bank is a shoal stretching from near Fort Richmond, Staten Island, toward the Long Island shore, and is covered with water at all times. It is in the widest part of the Bay, and the buildings will consequently be at such distance from the shores as not to arouse the silly clamor of either Staten Islanders or Long Islanders. As it will require considerable time to erect a quarantine on this sunken sand bank, provision is made in the new bill for the erection on Barren Island of temporary quarters for those persons who have been exposed to infectious diseases. This bill, which promises to become a law, will give the Board of Health every facility for providing against the importation of cholera, and will, at the same time, insure some degree of comfort to the individuals who are so unfortunate as to be restrained of their liberty by Quarantine regulations.

Let us be Merciful to Ourselves.

The physical structure of the strongest human being is vulnerable everywhere. Our bodies are endowed by nature with a certain negative power, which protects them to some extent from unwholesome influences; but this protection is imperfect, and cannot safely be relied upon in unhealthy regions, or under circumstances of more than ordinary danger. Therefore, it is wisdom, it is prudence, it is common sense, to provide against such contingencies, by taking an antidote in advance; in other words, by fortifying the system with a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most complete protective against all the epidemic and endemic maladies that has ever been administered in any country. As a remedy for Dyspepsia there is no medicine that will compare with it. Whoever suffers the pangs of indigestion, anywhere on the face of the earth where HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be procured, does so voluntarily; for as surely as Truth exists, this invaluable Tonic and Alterative would restore his disordered stomach to a healthy condition. To the Bilious it is also especially recommended, and in case of confirmed Constipation it affords speedy and permanent relief. In Canada, the West Indies and Australia the Bitters rank above all other medicines of the class, and the demand for them in all foreign countries increases every season.

FROM THE PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR CALOMEL.—The medical and scientific talent and learning of both Europe and America have long been actively but unsuccessfully exercised to provide a substitute for calomel, that powerful, dangerous, poisonous, destructive substance which, notwithstanding its known ruinous results, has acted a leading part in the practice of most physicians all their professional lives. Days and nights, year in and year out, have been laboriously and persistently passed by eager heads and hands to learn if, in all the wide realms of nature, there could not be found something that would perform the varied offices of calomel and at the same time not be followed by its deplorably baneful effects. Fortunately for mankind, and to the perennial glory of science and the medical art, this great desideratum has been discovered by Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia. Schenck's Mandrake Pills combine precisely the purpose, the power, and the need, which has so long been sought; and henceforth calomel, in all its killing forms, from mercury to its most distant dilution, may be laid on the upper shelf of obscurity, to repose in the merited dust and rubbish of ages. The Pills have been in use in Dr. Schenck's very large practice for several years, and their marvelous virtues have been fully demonstrated. Their effect is precisely what is wanted—at once active, friendly, searching and thorough on the human system. It is not probable that so really great and efficacious a discovery in medicine has been made for centuries, and it redounds all the more to the extraordinary spirit of investigation, observation and sagacity of Dr. Schenck, that he should have reached the proud distinction of making it. The Doctor puts forward no special claim to be a scientific man, but he is certainly that and very much more—a man of rare common sense and intelligence. He has had and is daily having an immense practice in the cure of disease, and has sadly seen too often the disastrous and fatal effect of calomel in its various forms not to have for it a just and abiding horror. The very extensive demand for the Pills from every section of the country shows at least that they are beginning to be appreciated. As a commercial fact of interest we may state that no pill in the country is selling so rapidly at the leading medical depots. The great resources of the fine laboratory in Philadelphia are taxed to the utmost, and yet the supply is far behind the demand. He has struck upon a most fortunate discovery—fortunate to the world, and fortunate in a double sense to himself. Schenck's Mandrake Pills have just entered upon their beneficent career. Their course will circle the round of the nations, and no people upon whom the sun shines or the stars look down will ere long be without their health-restoring, life-giving aid. Disease, routed, dismayed, disheartened, will flee from its hiding-places in the human system, shorn of its power to curse and destroy. Combining, as they do, not only the best efficacy and virtue of Mandrake itself—a most remarkable growth of nature—but other rare and active products culled from her profuse cornucopia, and compounded, as they are, in the nicest proportions and after the most approved chemical methods, the Pills are truly an achievement in medical science which will bear the severest test of time, and grow in popularity in proportion as they are used. They act not upon any one organ, but several organs; and above and more than all, they clear the system of that gross, impure, filthy bile which causes so much disease, and which, while in the system, utterly prevents anything like health. Columns could easily be written upon the multifarious virtues of these Pills. This is, perhaps, hardly necessary at the present time, for they are surely as well as swiftly making a welcome place in every household in the land. Schenck's Mandrake Pills will make his name dear to the firesides of the world, and many a prostrate form will rise in joy, health and strength to bless him. He has achieved, by the force of common sense and close, consecutive study, a triumph in the healing art which all the grave and reverend professors of the medical institutions of the world would give their entire honors and emoluments to have made. Thus it is that the world moves on, its progress and momentum being made not by the so-called great men, but by the practical, the hard-working, the robust and industrious possessors and users of common sense. Such a man is Dr. Schenck, and his name will go down to posterity a treasure to grateful millions for his noble, life-inspiring discovery—the Schenck Mandrake.

DR. VON EISENBERG

Begs to inform his patients and the public in general that in consequence of the disastrous fire at his late residence, in Broadway, which prevented him from attending to his professional duties, he has now opened his new, spacious and commodious Consulting Rooms at No. 251 5th-av., where he attends to all diseases of the Eye, Ear, Catarrh, Throat and Asthma.

Dr. Von Eisenberg has spared neither labor nor expense to add many additions and improvements to his

ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON,

The celebrated apparatus invented by

DR. VON EISENBERG,

For the cure of all diseases of the

EYE, EAR, CATARRH,

DISEASES OF THE THROAT, ASTHMA.

Affections of the Voice, Laryngeal, Bronchial and Pulmonary Complaints, Disordered Functions of the Digestive Organs.

Dr. Von Eisenberg has to state that in inviting the first authorities from the best Medical Colleges of New-York to witness the operation and effect of his extraordinary valuable invention, with its new and wonderful additions, it must be understood that it does not cure every ailment in the world, but it does cure all the diseases above enumerated, such as Impaired Sight, Noises in the Head, Discharges from the Ear, Deafness, Sore Throat, Chronic Catarrh in its worst stage, Lung and Liver Diseases, Inflammation of the Air Cells of the Lungs, restores the Nervous Power, Cures Consumption, Phthisis or wasting away.

Certainly, if we consider the various constitutions affected with the same disease, it is evident that each sufferer from the same disease requires quite a different treatment. It is therefore obvious that no physician can honestly undertake the treatment of any patient until he makes a thorough and sincere diagnosis and investigation.

As both Dioscorides and Galen say, "Sympathy and antipathy are two hinges upon which the whole model of physic turns. The physician who minds them not is like a door off its hooks, and is more like to do his patients harm than to cure them."

Thousands have been cured by one application of his Æsthetico-Neuralgicon. Dr. VON EISENBERG has no nostrum requiring secrecy to insure its efficacy, for his treatment is based on long experience, assiduous attention, continued and successful practice, and by his peculiar process he is enabled to restore the sufferer to his normal condition of health. Hundreds, it is well known, have come forward to testify publicly, that they were cured by a single application; and many, as they themselves express, have been actually saved from the grave.

Dr. VON EISENBERG feels (and not without reason) that to have invented a means to benefit afflicted mortals even to subdue the slightest disease, is to him a greater felicity than the riches of a Monte-Christo. As one of our most learned and immortal physicians says: "Since, however, the Great God hath allowed to few upon earth the mighty privilege of serving their kind to its benefit, and that only to those who are of earth's best mold.

Quis meliore, luto finxit præcordia Titan"

I must make up in good wishes what I want strength to effect in full.

"Just as it is a crime to murder a man, so it is the part of virtue and honesty to save our fellow-beings when we are able."

CONSUMPTION CURED.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Jan. 12, 1867.

To Dr. Von Eisenberg, No. 251 Fifth-av., New-York:

DEAR SIR: I think it but justice to thank you for the skill and kind attention which you have displayed in my case. As you are aware, I was suffering from consumption, or, as physicians call it, wasting away. I decidedly did not expect that your talent would enable me to write this letter, as every one thought I would not live when I came into your office. I had been suffering for a long time with pulmonary catarrhal disease, cough without expectoration, chills, coldness, lassitude, heaviness of the head, dryness and fullness of the nasal passage, a dull pain and sense of weight in the forehead, uneasiness in the eyes—at last the cough came on, with a frothy, viscid expectoration. I had sleepless nights, sickness of the stomach, a peculiar look in my eyes, hoarseness of voice and loss of appetite, combined with night sweats, which so weakened me at last that I was induced to seek your opinion. After your examination, I felt that you understood my case thoroughly, and readily put myself under your treatment; and the result shows that while you have displayed in my case the care and skill which gained for you so deservedly the golden opinions of the public, you have also evinced the knowledge and care of a considerate and experienced physician. May every blessing be showered on you, is the earnest wish of your grateful patient.

TWELVE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED (12,800) ACRES OF LAND PER MILE are granted to the Company by the Government in addition to the subsidy of SIXTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS OF GOVERNMENT BONDS FOR EACH MILE OF ROAD AS COMPLETED. The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, now completed, connects with this road at Omaha, and is doing a large business in passengers and freight.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad Companies expect to extend connecting links of road to Omaha during the next year, so that four Trunk Railroads from the East will soon greatly contribute to the business of this Road, and the Central Pacific being constructed with great energy from California to meet this Great National Railroad across the Continent in 1870, insure for it all the business, both passenger and freight, it can possibly accommodate. The interest on these Bonds being payable in gold, and the issue so small per mile, there can be no question as to their safety, and the Company has no hesitation in recommending them to the public. Arrangements are being made with the National Banks generally throughout the country for the accommodation of investors in these Bonds.

AN ORDER FROM WASHINGTON
FROM THE SURGEON-GENERAL
OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY
CONCERNING HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT,

the well-known beverage of health, which has shown, as it has been officially stated, an incalculable influence on the condition of the sick soldiers suffering from suppurations, debility, asthma, &c., during the last European wars.

We have to-day the satisfaction of citing a new distinction conferred upon HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT, by the Surgeon-General of the United States Army, whose attention was attracted to it probably by the favorable report made to the New-York Academy of Medicine, and who wrote to Mr. Hoff that he might send some of his MALT EXTRACT to Lieut.-Col. Charles Sutherland, Assistant Medical Purveyor of the United States Army at Washington, for trial in the military hospitals.

This fact, in conjunction with the encomiums of our first-class physicians, speaks so well for HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT, BEVERAGE OF HEALTH, that further praise on our part would be superfluous, its incredible success in so short a space of time being the best proof of its great value.

Price per dozen, $6. Delivered free of charge to any part of this City and suburbs.

Sold at druggists and family groceries generally.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY

SEVEN PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.
$3,000,000 IN COUPON BONDS OF $1,000 EACH.
TWENTY YEARS TO RUN.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST GUARANTEED BY THE ATLANTIC & PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

And secured by property valued at $7,000,000, consisting of their completed road to the Gasconade River, 127 miles from St. Louis, and [illegible] acres of rich agricultural and mineral lands on the line. By a provision of the mortgage, so often as lands are sold to the amount of $40,000, this sum is to be funded for the redemption of a like amount of bonds, [illegible] the right at any time to take possession in payment of the PAR value of their bonds any of the Company's lands at schedule rates, mineral lands excepted.

The climate of Southwest Missouri is remarkably salubrious, the temperature even and the Winters short and mild. Its agricultural resources are not excelled by any part of the United States. Of its minerals, lead, iron and coal are found of superior quantities and in great abundance. The famous Granby lead mines on the Company's land are well known, and recent developments show that iron ore, purer than any yet known, lies along the line of the road in greater quantities than the total iron deposit of Pennsylvania.

The Company is now prepared to sell these lands at from $5 to $40 per acre.

By a recent arrangement with the [illegible] division of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, which has [illegible] and will form a direct and continuous railway from St. Louis to San Francisco, [illegible] than any other route.

Of the present issue of bonds, a limited amount is now offered for sale at the rate of 80 per cent., subject to advance at the option of the Company.

For further particulars apply to WARD & CO., Bankers, No. 56 Wall-st., New-York.

It would be contrary to the custom of the management to indulge in anticipating criticism of any artist, but the Director feels warranted in merely mentioning the extraordinary successes of
SENORA PERALTA
in Milan, Mexico and Havana, and, in announcing so important and interesting a debut, to call particular attention to the fact that this will be the only opportunity for presenting this highly extolled artist in this City.

NEW PATENT PIANOS.

RAVEN & BACON, Manufacturers of PIANO-FORTES with PATENT COMBINATION SOUNDING-BOARDS, patented Aug. 14, 1866. This invention, introduced exclusively into our Pianos, is of the greatest advantage to the tone of the instruments, as it affects the sounding-board—the very soul of the Piano—and produces thereby a pure liquid tone, greatly superior in quality and power to that of the ordinary Piano. The sounding-board, released from its connection with the piano-case, and resting upon under sounding-boards, is relieved from the rigidity caused by such connection, and its vibratory quality greatly increased. All lovers of this eminently household instrument, as well as parties proposing to purchase new Pianos, are invited to call and examine our assortment.

AFFAIRS IN NEW-ORLEANS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

New-Orleans, April, 1867.

It is as calm here as the horse latitudes. The leading Press has called on the leading men to say what shall be done, and they very properly say the hand of conquest is upon us, "there beginneth the second lesson." We must obey the irresistible. There is no dishonor in obedience. Such is the answer of Wade Hampton, Gens. Dick Taylor, Longstreet, and a large number of gentlemen whose answers are in. While the men who bore the brunt of the war are generally content with a consequence which they knew was included in the surrender, some of those who did not acquire as much renown in the field are not to be reconciled. It has produced some awkward collisions. Admiral Semmes has been compelled to defend himself against an imputation of dishonorable submission. He thus defines his idea of what honor requires. Speaking of his censor he asks:

"Is he in the field, with arms in his hands, negotiating for terms of surrender, or has he already laid down his arms, with no other terms guaranteed him than personal safety? Did not Gen. Joe Johnson make an effort to get terms, and fail, and did he not lay down his arms, notwithstanding his failure to get terms? When an enemy has been beaten, and disarmed, he is not in a condition to demand terms; he is, on the contrary, bound to submit to, if he does not willingly accept, just such terms as are offered him, and none other. And to be degraded by this submission, when he cannot avoid it? In our judgment, our true honor consists in maintaining that we are a conquered foreign power, having no rights whatever under the Constitution. All we can claim is that we shall be dealt with according to the international code as it has been humanized, and adapted to the civilization of the nineteenth century."

In another case a challenge is understood to have passed between one gentleman who having served his cause throughout the war is now willing to act under the law, and another who reproached him with submission, and yet the second is said not to have responded even to the conscription.

TYPOGRAPHICAL TROUBLES.

The failure of the "business season to realize" the expectations of holders has occasioned an unwise restriction of advertising, and as the season approaches when the newspaper business is never so active here, publishers manifest a natural disposition to retrench their expenditures. The simplest form in which this could be effected was obviously by reducing the cost of composition, and a proposition was made by the Associated Press to the Associated Printers with a view to such reduction. As, however, this was not coupled with any proposition to reduce the price of subscriptions or advertising, the second of the high contracting parties could not assent to the suggestion, but maintained its position at seventy-five cents per 1,000 ems. Thereupon, or at least thereafter, the Associated Press reduced its printed surface considerably, setting a great deal solid, and in one instance directing, it is said, the daily distribution of all standing matter. With the same effect of reducing the compositors' bills the Associated Press was struck with a sudden sense of the intense labor mental and physical of printing seven papers a week, and especially of the awful demoralization consequent upon the publication of newspapers made up on Sunday. So something in the likeness of a prayer meeting was held, in which it was preambulated that:

Whereas, The labor, mental and physical, necessary to the production of a Monday morning paper, must be almost entirely performed on Sunday; and,

Whereas, The physiological as well as well as psychological requirements of human nature render one day of rest out of seven particularly desirable; therefore,

Resolved, That, in order to afford all persons connected with our respective offices an opportunity of enjoying such rest, recreation or religious exercises as the conscience of each may respectively approve, we hereby agree to discontinue the Monday morning edition of the journals we severally represent.

The "psychological requirements" of the printer demand "such religious exercises as the conscience of each may respectively approve," and it is very commendable in the employers to care for their spiritual welfare. Stopping off one-seventh of their pay will tend to that object, on the principle that Mrs. Jellaby's little son, having been required by his philanthropic mamma to bestow all his pocket-money, by way of subscriptions to the "Bonds of Infants' Joy Association," had thereby, according to Dickens, virtually bound himself, also, by a pledge of total abstinence, from cakes and candy for an indefinite period thereafter. Content, however, with having thus contributed to the reform of the printer, the Association make no deduction from the subscription price of their papers, but reserve this saving of one-seventh the weekly expense of paper, composition, gas and fuel, to be applied to the "pschychological destitution of the printers." We may expect these compositors thus brought to a sense of their pagan tendencies, will at once reduce their rates in favor of their spiritual benefactors.

THE DRAMA.

Jefferson has gathered enough of laurels and gone to awaken fresh plaudits elsewhere with Rip and Maseppa. His creations present a rare combination of the pathetic and grotesque; that peculiar union which Dickens has succeeded so well in developing. The sources of the smiles and tears though elusive as the sources of the Nile, are yet so near together that the discovery of the one involves that of the other. Mr. Chanfrau plays his round of characters at the Varieties, and Mr. Bandman fills a temporary engagement of a few nights at the same theatre. The German or National Theatre, which has been quite successful during its first season, has presented a melodrama which had nearly terminated in tragedy. It is unnecessary to repeat the scandal which may be found in all the City papers. It is sufficient to say that the parties wounded in body or reputation are recovering, and harmony is again restored. The Roncari troupe played Martha to a very small attendance, at the Opera House. As the weather was execrable the managers determined to go on to Galveston, to the regret of the patrons of art. The troupe was in excellent voice and the piece admirably rendered. We have no immediate hope of opera, but the excellent company of comedians present three or four times a week the most favorite modern productions of the modern French drama. The smaller theatres are well patronized by those who like the usual mélange of high-tragedy stride and low-comedy jest, who weep at the pathetic ballad, shudder at the trapeze or gaze in ecstacies at the flesh-colored indescribables of the ballet. Those who are not to be satisfied with pictural sensation will find genuine excitement in the deeds of violence of frequent occurrence at this season. New-Orleans is a beacon of hope to the sanguine, and a last resource to the desperate. Many such persons maintain for a few months their struggle for existence. With the close of the business season and the departure of the migratory population come the trials of the dependent men and women, and too many seek in murder or suicide a solution of those troubles for which earth has given no relief.

IMMIGRANTS FOR HONDURAS AND BRAZIL.

Within the past week two expeditions have left this port for foreign lands. That Americans should voluntarily accept the institutions of a despotism in Brazil, or the society of the Mosquito Indians in the Balize, would some years ago have seemed unaccountable, but the necessities of the Southern people, and especially the want of qualification for the mixed industries of most modern nations, has compelled many of our people to go abroad for subsistence. It is consoling to reflect that they are the pioneers of a progress which will one day return them or their descendants to association with their native country, just as Texas now furnishes support and consolation to the Southern States and cities from which its people sprung. When, however, we look at the stagnation of the home market, and the want of demand, or rather of purchasing ability, on the part of the Southern people for the manufactures of the Eastern States, we are struck with wonder that those manufacturers do not demand an unrestricted trade with the Hispano-American States south of us. If the Government of the United States could secure an exclusive market in Mexico and in Insular and Central America, for the manufactures and provisions of the Eastern and Western States, what an immense impulse would be thereby given to American commerce. Now, however, Cuba and Honduras purchase their goods abroad under a lower rate of revenue duty, perhaps, than the people of the United States can import similar commodities. If the shipping, manufacturing and provision-growing interests would combine and demand a commercial policy that would give the United States the control of the South American market, consequences of the utmost magnitude would result. Among others, the Pacific Coast from Panama to Vancouver will organize and conduct the Asiatic trade with the innumerable millions of our nation, born, unborn and unimported. Why does New-England regard the precious commerce of South America with so much indifference? Why is she content to see Europe bring manufactures and provisions to our doors, and exchange them for gold, silver and tropical products, while we are using shinplasters, beet-sugar and rye coffee? Can it be from a fear that a commerce with these countries will enure to the special benefit of the South and West, reducing relatively the power of New-England to control the Government? We cannot think a people, remarkable for their enlightened sense of their own sectional interests, will take so narrow a view of so great a subject, especially when Boston complains of losing so much of her trade with the West Indies. Now that a movement has been made to buy out the Russian possessions, would it not be as well to round off our national territory by acquisitions embracing the West Indies and the Continent as low down as the Gulf of Darien. It would cost a good deal of money, but it would pay off the national debt. It might cost a war, but it would restore the national peace and prosperity ruined by the war, out of which we are just staggering. But no war would be necessary to secure to the United States free trade with the golden regions beyond us, and it would be worth a war abroad to vary the issues and restore the peace at home.

The Negro Vote in Atlanta.

An Atlanta (Ga.) paper says: "At the election held in this city last week by the colored population for a delegate to the State Educational Convention, there were 1,259 votes cast. Whether or not that is the full colored vote of this city we have no means of ascertaining, but as no important question was involved in the election, we are inclined to the opinion that it was not a full vote by several hundred. There were three candidates in the field, viz.: Willis Love, 950 votes; Charles Paine, 442 votes, and R. H. Badger, 227 votes. We regret to learn that many of our colored brethren were indiscreet enough to give the election a political complexion, and that the enthusiasm, in many instances, amounted to fisticuffs. The terms "rebel" and "Union" were in free use at the polls, for all of which there was no necessity whatever. The Convention will assemble at Macon on the first of May, at which Willis Love, the successful candidate, will be in attendance.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Registry Yesterday.

By recent enactment, the Legislature of New-York provided for an election of delegates to meet in Convention for the purpose of revising and amending the Constitution of the State—such election to be held on Tuesday next, the 23d inst. The various Boards of Registry throughout the City met yesterday, but as their duties were confined simply to the correction and revision of the poll-list of 1866, their work was very light and easily accomplished. The following table will show the number registered yesterday by Wards:

American Protestant Association.

The American Protestant Association celebrated the Lutheran Protest against Popish tyranny at the Cooper Institute last evening, Mr. Nicholson in the chair. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Walsh.

Mr. Nicholson made a brief introductory speech, in which he set forth the objects of the Association represented, and announced that during the last year it had made great progress throughout the country. The organization was only eighteen years old, having been started in Pittsburgh. He threw down the gauntlet to the Fenians, and said that before they placed their President of the Irish Republic on his seat they would have to encounter the men they met at Derry and at the Boyne, and now as then their battle-cry should be, "No surrender."

Mr. McKinlay being called upon, said he could only engage the attention of the audience with a short conversational speech on the subject of Protestantism generally, and he began with the bold stand taken by Luther in his great and grand protest against the authority of the Church of Rome. He traced the growth of manhood and the spirit of independence in the world since that time. Luther spoke the words, and men sprang to their feet to assert their newly-discovered rights. And now, in this country they had a constitutional liberty which was the great exemplar to the nations of the earth, and all owing to the progress of Protestant principles among the people. Great efforts had been made to crush out Protestantism, but it continued to rise above all obstacles. Often dead, it had two glorious resurrections, one when Cromwell sounded the trumpet and called it from its grave, and the other when it gave birth to the American flag.

Mr. Craig, of Philadelphia, the Right Worshipful Grand Secretary, then made a brief address, in which he said that the Order had, during the year, been carried into California, Maine and Western Virginia. The Lodges were doing a vast work in spreading wholesome ideas of truth broadcast through the land.

The meeting was very enthusiastic, and the large hall was well filled.

Another Alleged Bond Robbery.

A few days ago, so the story runs, a representative of the firm of Messrs. George H. Francis & Co., merchants, No. 24 Warren-street, called at the Central Office, and informed the detectives that the establishment had been robbed of about $20,000 worth of United States bonds, which were taken from their safe, and that they were unable to discover the thief or to trace the whereabouts of the missing property. Officers Bradford and Kelso were intrusted with the task of "working up" the case. A careful investigation of matters by the detectives revealed the fact that the book-keeper for the house, Alfred H. Foxcroft, was undoubtedly the guilty party. It is understood that about $10,000 in bonds and $1,200 in money were recovered, but no arrest has as yet been made. The accused has been in the employ of Messrs. Francis & Co. for upward of two years, and has never been suspected of dishonesty before.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

Commission on Life-Saving Apparatus.—The Commission on Life-Saving Apparatus met yesterday morning at the rooms of the Board of Underwriters, Wall-street. A number of communications being disposed of, the Committee adjourned to meet on board the revenue cutter Kankakee. At 11 o'clock the cutter brought the party, accompanied by a number of inventors, down the bay, where experiments were tried with the detaching apparatus of life-boats. These experiments were before described in the Times when they were first made last Fall. As then, they were almost uniformly successful, and it remains only with the Committee, who are experts, to decide as to individual merit. Experiments, successful also, were tried with a lowering apparatus, by which, as the name implies, ships' boats are lowered into the water, not dropped from the davits as by the detaching process. The merits of a fog-horn were also tested, and considerable noise was made in the doing so. Having enjoyed a pleasant trip, the Committee returned with a good appetite, and adjourned to comfort it. They meet this morning at the Tribune office, where they propose to have a look at the terrible boiler of which Mr. Norman Wiard spoke in no complimentary terms a few days since.

Incendiary Fire in East Forty-seventh-street.—Last evening at about 7 o'clock a fire was discovered in the feed store owned by Geo. Burke, in Forty-seventh-street, near the East River. The firemen responded promptly to the alarm, and extinguished the flames before much damage had been done. The loss was very trifling. Insured for $500 in the Rutgers' Company. James Reynolds, a clerk in the establishment, was arrested by the Police of the Nineteenth Precinct upon the charge of having set fire to the premises. An examination will be had before Justice Ledwith to-day.

The Savings Banks.—Last year $93,418,947 were deposited in the savings banks of this City, being an increase of $10,619,108 over the previous year. In the Brooklyn banks $18,417,617 were deposited—an increase of $2,697,984 over the previous year. In one bank only—the German—has there been a decrease in the deposits. The banks showing the largest increase are the Citizens', Third-avenue, Union Dime, Bleecker-street, Dry Dock, Manhattan, Metropolitan and Emigrants' Industrial. Such old-established banks as the Bowery and Seamen's show a remarkably steady average.

The Passover.—The Jewish festival of Passover, ordained to commemorate the Almighty's goodness in delivering the Israelites from the persecutions of the Egyptians, commenced last evening. It continues eight days, during which no leaven is permitted to be eaten or used in any way. The first two and last two days of the festival are observed in the same manner as the Sabbath, while on the other days secular occupations may be followed.

The Union Home Schools.—The managers of this institution have received $99,600 as the proceeds of the late lottery enterprise. They have purchased eight lots of land on Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth streets, near Eighth-avenue, on which there is a large building, capable of accommodating two hundred children. With an addition, which will shortly be made, it will accommodate five hundred.

The Festival of the Trinity Choirs.—The last rehearsal of Handel's Oratorio of the Messiah will take place on Wednesday afternoon; and we have been requested to state that the band and the principal vocalists will meet at 4 o'clock; and the rehearsal of all the choruses with band and organs at 5 o'clock, precisely.

National Affairs.—Wendell Phillips will deliver the closing lecture of the Brooklyn Fraternity course, upon Tuesday evening next, at the Academy of Music. The subject of his discourse will be "National Affairs."

BROOKLYN NEWS.

The Alleged Homicide in the Twelfth Ward—Two Arrests Yesterday.—Yesterday morning Coroner Lynch, with Officer Hughes, of the Forty-third Precinct, succeeded in effecting the arrest of Patrick McCaffrey and a woman named Bridget Welch, on a charge of being implicated in the case of the man Michael Rooney, who died on Thursday from the effects of injuries which he is alleged to have sustained at his own residence in Dikeman, near Richard street, on Sunday evening last. It will be remembered that the difficulty occurred about the woman Welch, during which it is alleged McCaffrey so maltreated Rooney that he died from the effects of the injuries thus inflicted. The son of deceased, it is said, states that his father fell out of bed subsequent to the affray, and sustained the injuries which resulted in his death. However, as Coroner Lynch was of the opinion that death was caused otherwise, he visited the residence of McCaffrey's sister in Columbia, near Summit street, yesterday, and with the assistance of Officer Hughes, arrested McCaffrey and the woman, who were thereupon committed to the Raymond-street Jail to await the result of the inquest which will be commenced on Monday next, at 10 A. M. The prisoners are both young, neither of them apparently being over 25 years of age.

The Case of Mrs. Thompson—Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Smith commenced an inquest yesterday afternoon touching the case of Mrs. Mary Thompson, who died on Sunday last, from the effects of injuries received at the hands of several highwaymen on the night of the 27th ult. The readers of the Times will recollect that deceased was garroted and robbed at the corner of Willoughby and Lawrence streets on the night in question by the ruffians, who also beat her so badly that she became insensible. The testimony taken yesterday afternoon did not elicit any facts more than have already been published, and from present appearances the probability is that the guilty parties will escape the punishment which they so clearly deserve. Coroner Smith adjourned the inquest until Monday next at 2 P. M.

Seizure of Whisky.—Yesterday morning a truck containing fourteen barrels of whisky, spuriously branded, was seized in Navy, near Sand-street, by Inspector Crochu and Deputy Collector Dailey. The horses (two) attached to the truck were also secured....The same officers seized a horse, wagon and five barrels of whisky, which they found in Fulton-street. The horse, wagon and two barrels of the five were restored to their owner, R. Midas, of East New-York, but the remainder were retained on the charge that when seized they were being removed to a place other than a bonded warehouse. Deputy Collector Dailey also reported at the United States District-Attorney's office the seizure of two hundred barrels of falsely branded whisky at Miller's bonded warehouse.

Probable Fatal Stabbing Affray in the Eastern District.—Last night about 8 o'clock, an altercation occurred between two colored men named John Poole, 23 years of age, and Prime Hamilton, aged 21, when the latter drew a knife and stabbed the former in the left groin and right breast, inflicting terrible and probably fatal wounds. The unfortunate man was taken to his residence, No. 1 Battle-row, North Second-street, in front of which he was stabbed. Dr. Hallam attended him and probed the wounds. He entertained faint hopes of Poole's recovery. Hamilton was arrested about 9 o'clock by Officer Lee, of the Forty-fifth Precinct, and is now locked up to await the result of the bold deed he committed. The negro Rogers was stabbed in the same neighborhood in August last, and his murderer is at large to-day.

An Adventurous Youth.—A young man named Daniel Callahan was taken into custody on Thursday night by Superintendent Christopher Wright, of the Forty-fourth Precinct, charged with the commission of several serious offences. In July last he was tried for highway robbery and acquitted; was again arrested, and effected his escape from the jail wagon while on his way to prison. Some time afterward he was again arrested, and again escaped by jumping through a window of Justice Cornwell's (City Hall) Police Court. A few days from that time Callahan was arrested again, but escaped by leaving his coat in the hands of an officer who had him in charge. He is now secured, and, should he not escape again, will doubtless receive due punishment.

Assault on a Greenpoint Policeman.—Yesterday forenoon Officer Depew, of the Forty-seventh Precinct, was assaulted while in the discharge of his duty at Greenpoint by a family named Stoltz, consisting of father, mother, son and daughter, who were assisted in the assault by their goat. Indeed, the goat was the original cause of the disturbance, as it first attacked the officer, and its owners went to its help when they found that the officer was likely to get the mastery of it. The Stoltz family were all arrested for interfering with the officer, and Justice Dailey held them in bonds of $200 each to answer for the offence. The pugnacious goat is yet at large.

Lecture on Boys.—Rev. Wm. Alvin Bartlett delivered his celebrated lecture on "Boys" before a very large and fashionable audience at the Elm-place Church on Thursday night. The lecturer is an able speaker and a close observer, and the audience were delighted with the fund of information, anecdote, wit and humor which was eloquently contributed to the common stock on this occasion. A better lecture or a more successful affair it would be difficult to mention.

Masonic Temple.—The new and finely finished structure at the intersection of Grand and Seventh streets, E. D., called the Masonic Temple, is now about ready for the purposes for which it was designed. On Tuesday next the different Lodges intending to occupy it will open their rooms to public view, and will be on hand for three days to receive their friends. The respective Lodge-rooms are furnished regardless of expense.

Committal of Alleged Burglars.—Two young men, named Wm. Smith and James Kirwin, were yesterday committed to the County Jail by Justice Dailey to await trial at the Court of Sessions for the offence of burglary. There are two charges against Kirwin, who is only 17 years of age.

NEW-JERSEY.

Inaugural Railroad Banquet.—The promoters of the new line of railroad from Cherry Hill to a junction with the Northern Railroad of New-Jersey, for which the charter was obtained at the late session of the New-Jersey Legislature, held an inaugural banquet on Thursday evening at the residence of Godfrey Zingsem, Esq., Cherry Hill. The chair was occupied by Mr. Zingsem, and there were present Thos. H. Herring, Esq., President of the Northern Railroad of New-Jersey; Senator Charles H. Winfield, Dr. Vail, member of the House of Assembly; D. E. Culver, Engineer of the new line; Col. Edson, Messrs. Sissem, Lienau, Van Buskirk, Mellick and others interested in the enterprise, with some twenty ladies who accompanied them. Having consumed the customary three hours in discussing the merits of a dinner a la mode, speeches were made touching the closer relationship now being formed between New-Jersey and the great Empire City.

Senator Winfield spoke of the opposition which the promoters of the new railroad had met in the Legislature owing to conflicting interests, and pointed to the successful result of the labors of those in favor of it as an index that despite of all opposition the people of New-Jersey and their representatives showed that they were truly alive to their own interest, and to the fact that that interest could in no way be better subserved than by offering every inducement to New-York merchants to find homes at easy distance from their offices upon the fruitful soil of New-Jersey.

Mr. Herring, representing the Northern Railroad, of New-Jersey, as its President, spoke of the success which had attended that line as best shown in the rapid development of the region through which it passed. He referred to its management of one feature, at least, of which he said they had good reason to be proud—that in eight years travel not a single passenger on the line had lost his life, or been injured ever so slightly. The Northern Railroad Company, he said, were deeply interested in the success of the Cherry Hill road, and were prepared to coöperate with its promoters in every way to attain the end in view—the rapid transportation of passengers to and from New-York, and at convenient hours.

Mr. Vorhees concluded an eloquent and witty speech by saying that so long as the merchants of New-York were subjected to the discomforts attending the present mode of reaching their places of business, and of returning to their homes—and the prospects of immediate remedy were not flattering—so long would they look beyond the limits of Manhattan Island for quiet homes of easy access. Besides this class of merchants, those who preferred remaining on the island if they were not driven from it, there was that other class who yearned for the quiet of a few hours away from the noise and dust of the City, and where their wives and their children would have all the benefits of a country home. It was the purpose of the promoters of the Cherry Hill Railroad to lend their aid to meet this want, and of course to profit by the enterprise. This they proposed to do by bringing the valley of the Hackensack, and the beautiful uplands east of it, within forty minutes' travel of the New-York City Hall, a tract of fruitful country where they might erect their homes and own them for less than the yearly rental, now-a-days, of a respectable dwelling in the great overcrowded City. He spoke in complimentary terms of the course taken by the New-York Times on this matter of suburban homes, and of its persistent outcry for relief, by rapid transportation from end to end of the island, of the patient, yet all but smothered populace. If, however, New-York fails through its representatives to obtain judicious measures of relief, and that the City still remains overcrowded, New-Yorkers cannot fail to recognise the wisdom of New-Jersey in pointing to her fair fields invitingly, and in providing the means by which to reach them readily. New-York merchants, wearied of waiting for legislative action, have taken the matter in hand themselves, and will put it through with their accustomed energy. He had no doubt that the new road would be completed within five months, a large amount of the capital stock has already been subscribed, and the Engineer was at work upon his survey. This line completed, another broad avenue would be open, of which many would, no doubt, avail themselves to their own especial benefit, and no doubt to the benefit of the great mass of population, so fearfully oppressed by overcrowding, high rents, the discomforts of City travel, and all the other evils consequent to excessive numbers of people unprovided with the means to spread themselves over sufficient area.

Other addresses were delivered illustrative of the rapid growth and identification of the interests of the great Empire City with those especially within her immediate influence, and in proof thereof her ripening sisterhood with New-Jersey. The party broke up at a late hour, closing a pleasant evening by toasting at the end of a long list the health of their hostess and host, Mrs. and Mr. Zingsem.

New-Jersey News in Brief.—The young man Ryan, arrested in Newark on Tuesday last charged with being an accomplice of Jo. McCracken in the highway robbery of the Clerk of the Gould Machine Company, had a preliminary examination yesterday, which resulted in his committal for trial. ....A horse attached to a baker's wagon and driven by a German, took fright and ran away in Newark yesterday. The reins broke, when the driver sprang on the horse's back, but was unable to check him. The animal crashed through a board fence, and the rider was sent flying over his head, but escaped serious injuries....Private letters received from Bishop Bayley, of the See of Newark, announce that he was in Paris on the 5th inst., intending to proceed to the Holy Land...Bishop Odenheimer preached in Trinity Episcopal Church, in Newark, on Thursday evening, and administered the right of confirmation to about thirty persons....The first company of the Orange Fire Department was organized on Thursday night by electing the following officers for a hook and ladder company: Foreman, H. W. Gibbs; Assistant, John Fryer; Clerk, H. Grundman; Steward, Bruno Haag....The Newark Conference Camp-meeting will be held at Morristown in August on the same grounds as last year....An iron ore bed is about being opened on the farm of A. M. The Provident Institution for Savings—Presentations of Silver Service.—Messrs. James W. Palmer, John Griffin, David Smith, Minot C. Morgan and E. W. Kingsland, Committee of investment of the Provident Institution for Savings, in Jersey City, were on Thursday evening presented with services of silver plate, at the residence of Hon. D. S. Gregory, by the Trustees of the institution, in behalf of the bank and its depositors, as a testimonial of gratitude for their many years of faithful and gratuitous services. The plate consists of tea and coffee pots, sugar and slop bowls, milk-pitchers, sugar-tongs and coffee-strainers. They are tastefully gotten up massive services, in the antique style, and appropriately inscribed. Hon. D. S. Gregory gave a brief history of the institution, which went into operation in 1844. The first year the total amount deposited was $2,110; but since that time there have passed through the hands of the Board of Investment the sum of $6,588,448 27. During the years the bank has been in existence it has accumulated, over and above its withdrawals, $1,827,798 10, which is the property of not less than 6,773 depositors.

The Serenade to Mayor Gopsill.—At the serenade to Mr. James Gopsill, the newly-elected Mayor of Jersey City, which took place on Thursday night, in response to a call from the assemblage he appeared upon the balcony and made a short speech. Mr. Gopsill said that he was proud to admit that he was a Republican in full communion with the party, and sincerely believed in the principles which it advocated through five years of bloody war and which it advocates to-day. While he admitted this, and that he owed his election primarily to the Republican Party, he would be unjust and ungrateful did he not acknowledge his obligations to the hundreds of American Democrats who cast their votes for him irrespective of party considerations. To the Christian community of all persuasions, and the various temperance associations who had manifested so much interest in his success, assurances were given that he would use all the power belonging to the office to protect, preserve and defend the sanctity of the Christian Sabbath and circumscribe the fearful vice of rum-selling.

The Conflagrations Along the Morris and Essex Railroad.—Great excitement continues to exist along the line of the Morris and Essex Railroad at the continued destruction of property by the cinders from the coal-burning locomotives. A dwelling-house near Drakesville was destroyed on Saturday, and a bridge at Madison was set on fire, but the flames were extinguished by the inhabitants near by. Thousands of cords of wood have been burned, and wherever a coal falls it sets fire to the surrounding combustibles, and a little wind is sufficient to produce a serious conflagration. Meetings of the citizens have been held at various localities and protests have been sent in to the Company; but thus far no relief has been given, and consequently a general feeling of insecurity exists. The Company will, in all probability, be involved in many law suits for damages.

False Imprisonment.—Some months since a Newark constable, named Sehr, obtained a warrant for a person in Union County, which he served upon an innocent man, who was dragged from his bed at night, roughly handled, and not allowed to get either his hat or his shoes, in which condition he was taken before a Newark Justice, who discovered the mistake and ordered his release. The Grand Jury of Union County brought in a bill of indictment against Sehr, who gave bonds to appear for trial, but ran away and broke his bail. The accused returned to Newark on Thursday evening to see his wife, when he was re-arrested and taken to the Elizabeth jail to await trial.

The Elevated Bridge.—The elevated foot-passenger bridge, which has been erected at the Newark-avenue Railroad crossing in Jersey City, for the benefit of pedestrians while the street is obstructed with cars, was thrown open to the use of the public yesterday. So far as the ladies are concerned the bridge is a failure, they preferring to await the removal of the obstruction on the track to climbing over the elevation.

Horses Burned to Death.—Between 1 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning a small barn at East Newark, near the turnpike bridge, was destroyed by fire and two horses were burned to death. The property belonged to Patrick Kiernin, who loses $800, no insurance. It is stated that a dissipated party who quartered there on Thursday night set the premises on fire.

An Aged Man Missing.—James Lynch, aged 87 years, and who is in his dotage, wandered from his home, No. 25 North Sixth-street, Jersey City, at noon on Wednesday, and since that time his friends are unable to gain any tidings of his whereabouts. The missing man has gray hair, and stoops very much. He wore a Kossuth hat, long black cloth overcoat, and gray tweed pantaloons.

THE GREAT

AMERICAN TEA CO.

ESTABLISHED 1861.

The Immense Profits of the Tea Trade Greatly Reduced.

The proprietors became fully convinced, several years ago, that the consumers of Tea and Coffee were paying too many and too large profits on these articles of every day consumption, and therefore organized THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA COMPANY, to do away, as far as possible, with these enormous drains upon the consumers, and to supply them with these necessaries at the smallest possible price.

To give our readers an idea of the profits which have been made in the Tea trade, we will start with the American houses, leaving out of the account entirely the profits of the Chinese factors.

1st..........The American houses in China or Japan make large profits on their sales or shipments—and some of the richest retired merchants in this country have made their immense fortunes through their houses in China.

2d..........The banker makes large profits upon the foreign exchange used in the purchase of teas.

3d..........The importer makes a profit of 30 to 50 per cent. in many cases.

4th..........On its arrival here it is sold by the cargo and the purchaser sells it to the speculator in invoices of 1,000 to 2,000 packages, at an average profit of about 10 per cent.

5th..........The speculator sells it to the wholesale tea dealer in lines, at a profit of 10 to 15 per cent.

6th..........The wholesale tea dealer sells it to the wholesale grocer in lots to suit his trade, at a profit of about 10 per cent.

7th..........The wholesale grocer sells it to the retail dealer at a profit of 15 to 25 per cent.

8th..........The retailer sells it to the consumer for all the profit he can get.

When you have added to these eight profits as many brokerages, cartages, storages, cooperages and waste, and add the original cost of the tea, it will be perceived what the consumer has to pay. And now we propose to show why we can sell so very much lower than other dealers.

We propose to do away with all these various profits and brokerages, cartages, storages, cooperages and waste, with the exception of a small commission paid for purchasing to our correspondents in China and Japan, one cartage and a small profit to ourselves—which, on our large sales, will amply pay us.

Parties getting their Teas from us may confidently rely upon getting them pure and fresh, as they come direct from the Custom-house stores to our warehouses.

The Company continue to sell at the following prices:

OOLONG, (Black,) 60c., 70c., 80c., 90c., best $1 per ℔.
